U.S. DOLLAR'S FALL STARTS TRADE MOVE BY BRITAIN

British Navy Plans Not Aimed At Any Nation Says Premier

All Angles of Situation Taken Into Account in Determining Building Programme, MacDonald Tells Commons When Asked If U.S. Regarded as Potential Enemy

Building Is Done Under London Pact

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 23.—Prime Minister MacDonald told the House of Commons today that Great Britain's naval programme "is not directed against any particular country."

The Premier was replying to a question from the floor as to whether he could give assurance the recently announced cruiser building programme did not mean that in the future the United States would be "regarded as a potential enemy of Great Britain," or any naval building undertaken by the United States would be met by naval building by Great Britain.

MIST STUDY ALL FACTS
Premier MacDonald answered the second part of the question by declaring: "I am decided on the government in relation to all circumstances of the situation."

He reiterated the building programme, not only in the United States but in Great Britain, was being carried out by mutual agreement under the London Naval Pact.

REGULATION OF BUS LINES

Uniform Laws For Dominion Is Objective of Ottawa Conference

Plans for uniform regulations applying to bus lines throughout the Dominion of Canada will be considered by representatives of all provincial governments at a conference to be held at Ottawa, December 14, Hon. R. J. Manion, Dominion Minister of Railways, advised the British Columbia Government today.

Information on the date of the conference was received this morning by Hon. P. M. MacPherson, B.C. Minister of Public Works, with a notification that the agenda will be forwarded later.

Data from all the provinces on the extent of the development of the rapidly growing form of transportation has been secured for the conference through questionnaires which have been sent out. In many of the provinces, and to a certain extent in British Columbia, freight transportation plays an important part in the operations of bus companies.

Larger trucks and trailers are being brought into service and, particularly in Ontario, frequent bus services to many points make up a considerable proportion of the travel over the roads.

This and many other angles of bus transportation are expected to come up for discussion.

The agenda will be received before it is decided whether British Columbia will send a representative to the conference.

Stratosphere Flight Officially Recorded

International Aeronautic Federation Announces Settle-Fordney Ascent of 61,236 Feet Above U.S. Goes in Its Record Books; Russians, Not Members of Federation, Claimed 62,335 Feet

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 23.—The International Aeronautic Federation indicated today that the stratosphere ascent of Lt. Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major C. Fordney of the United States last Monday, would be recognized as a new official world altitude record.

Washington, Nov. 23.—A calibration of the barograph carried by Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major C. Fordney on their stratosphere flight last Monday showed the balloons had ascended 61,236 feet (11,591 miles).

The National Aeronautic Association, in announcing the figure, said it would be forwarded to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale as a new world height record.

Ray Cooper of the N.A.A. said that although three Soviet stratosphere balloons September 30 last, had

WAGE ACT TO BRING PAY UP

Mill Operators Securing Unfair Advantage Engage Minister's Attention

Low Rate Hits Employers Striving to Give Reasonable Pay

Unless employers in British Columbia, who are taking advantage of the surplus of labor, endeavor to bring up their wage scale to the standard of other employers in the same line of industry the Minimum Wage Act will be enforced, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, intimated this morning.

Complaints had been received, Mr. Pearson said, that some employers were taking an unfair advantage of others in the same industry by paying much lower wages. This gave them an advantage over the employer striving to pay a reasonable wage and who was entitled to encouragement. The employer who was paying the smallest wages was able to compete unfairly with those trying to keep workmen employed on a reasonable rate.

SCALE AT MILLS
He had heard rumors, which he did not yet had the opportunity to investigate, the minister said, that on Vancouver Island some mills were paying as low as fifteen cents an hour for labor. Other mills were paying thirty-five cents an hour for the same kind of labor. Obviously, the mill paying fifteen cents an hour was in an advantageous position in the market for a cheaper rate, although it secured this advantage unfairly.

Industries which had to pay such a low rate of pay as fifteen cents an hour were of questionable value to the province, the minister remarked, intimating the Minimum Wage Act would be enforced if the government were forced to take such action.

GERMAN UNION CHURCH SERVICES

Associated Press
Berlin, Nov. 23.—More complete regimentation of German Protestants was foreseen today in an order that a Unity Church be held the first Sunday of each month at which the same sermons will be preached and the same songs sung throughout the Reich.

Archbishop Ludwig Mueller decreed December 3—the date of his consecration as the leader of the German Protestantism—as the date of the first general service.

Originating in Nazi Christian Church sections, it was considered likely the new order from Bishop Mueller might add fuel to the smoldering fires of religious dissension, since Non-Nazi Protestants and Roman Catholics both have taken stands against plans likely to be followed by members of the Germanic cult movement.

MARLER NOW CONVALESCING

Canadian Minister to Japan Regaining Strength After Attack of Pneumonia

By Percy Whitehead
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Tokyo, Nov. 23.—Hon. Gordon Sloan, Canadian Minister to Japan, is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia suffered early in November. The minister's condition is described as "satisfactory" as can be expected. Mr. Marler's physical stamina is feared to have been weakened considerably by the illness.

The minister first fell ill November 1, when he caught a chill.

The attending physician, Dr. Ikeda, found the disease to be lobar pneumonia, at an advanced stage. The base of the right lung, Mr. Marler suffered from a high fever during the first three or four days in hospital, but subsequently the fever declined.

Canadians here feel particularly regretful the minister's illness should occur so soon after moving into the new legation buildings, which include the minister's official residence and a separate Chancery building.

Lumbermen of B.C. To Reply To British Imports Statement

Leaders Will Meet in Vancouver and Issue Declaration on Ability of Province to Supply Lumber Market in United Kingdom

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—Plans were under way today for a meeting as soon as possible of leaders in the British Columbia lumber trade to reply to the statement defending British imports of Russian lumber issued in London yesterday evening by Timber Distributors Limited.

"We are amazed that any members of the Timber Distributors Limited should be parties to such erroneous and completely misleading statements as those contained in London press dispatches," it was stated here by H. J. Mackin, chairman of the British Columbia Lumbermen's Association. "The accusations are completely contradictory to this year's experience and the true facts of the case," said Mr. Mackin.

Mr. Mackin stated that "this matter is of such vital importance to Canadian lumbermen that I am requesting an immediate conference of the British Columbia industry to consider and deal with it."

Hon. Gordon Sloan Answers Suggestion He Is Too Young to Be Attorney-General

Hon. G. S. Pearson Tells of Government's Plans For Equal Distribution of Work

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 23.—Methods to be adopted by the Liberal Government to restore equal distribution of labor in British Columbia as a plan for a revival of industry throughout the province were outlined by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines and Labor, in addressing a Liberal meeting in Britannia High School here yesterday evening.

Mr. Pearson was speaking in support of Hon. Gordon McG. Sloan and Gordon Wismer, the two Liberal candidates in Vancouver Centre, where polling will be held next Monday. Mrs. Helen Douglas Smith, member-elect for Burrard, also spoke.

Mr. Sloan, in the course of an address, declared in favor of a greater contribution by young men to the public affairs of British Columbia.

PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED
Mr. Pearson said:

"We are faced with one of the most serious situations in the history of the province. As far as some improvement in the present relief scheme is concerned, I am afraid it is going to be harder than I expected. Our first problem is to get the relief scheme working properly."

ACCUSE JAPAN OF AGITATION

Chinese Newspapers Allege Nipponese Financing Revolt in Southern Province

Associated Press
Shanghai, Nov. 23.—Chinese newspapers to-day charged Japanese money was aiding the newly-declared anti-government movement in Fukien province.

Financial assistance was being given, it was asserted, for the purpose of embarrassing the recognized officials. Vernacular newspapers, commenting on the charge, bitterly denounced the Nipponese as "further interfering in Chinese affairs."

Meanwhile, obscurity marked the situation in Fukien, southern coast province. Some reports were that the opposition movement was developing rapidly. Others indicated the movement was superficial and destined for speedy collapse.

MAJOR MOODIE FILLS BREACH

Premier Had No Private Secretary When He Entered Office

Man Associated With Him For Five Years Was Named To Help

When Premier Pattullo took over his duties as head of the government he had no private secretary, and as he had no intention of appointing one for the time being, he called upon Major S. F. M. Moodie, with whom he has been associated for five years to temporarily help.

He could have secured the benefit of Major Moodie's services under cover, but the administration does not propose to do business that way, the Premier said.

"Capital is sought to be made out of the fact that Major Moodie, who has been Liberal organizer, is temporarily acting as assistant to my office and all sorts of suggestions are made that some expenses of organization work of the Liberal Party are likely to be paid out of public funds," Premier Pattullo remarked.

"Ex-Premier Tolmie had a private secretary who left when he left," he continued. "I have no private secretary and no intention of appointing one for the time being. During the last five years Major Moodie has been associated with me and is thoroughly familiar with every portion of this province. All sorts of questions are arising from all portions of the province. A new secretary would be almost useless to me at the present moment. Major Moodie is not in the civil service and has no intention of entering it."

"The central headquarters of the Liberal organization will still be maintained in the Senate Building here, and not one single dollar in connection with that organization will be paid out of public funds. The work of the Liberal organization will be conducted as usual from central headquarters."

"I take it that I am occupying my present position because the people have confidence in me and expect me to get on with my job, and I am taking what I believe to be the most effective means to do so."

Twenty-five Hours Chicago to Pacific

Aluminum Streamlined "Tube" Train Will Be Built To Do Over 100 Miles An Hour

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A six-car aluminum streamlined "tube" train for transcontinental runs will be constructed shortly in the Pullman shops here for the Union Pacific Railroad, it was learned today. Three units of the train will carry sleeping compartments. Officials say the train probably will be put in service between Los Angeles and Chicago after tests.

Speeds of well over 100 miles an hour will be made possible by use of a 600-horsepower Diesel engine, said to be the largest ever built for a railroad car in the United States. At this rate it would be possible to cut the running time to the Pacific Coast to something over twenty-five hours from Chicago.

PORTLAND HAS EARTH SHOCKS

BENNETT NOW IS CRITICIZED

London News-Chronicle Asks Why British Government's Course Influenced By Him

Says His "Threats and Complaints" Hold Up Move For British-Russia Trade Pact

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 23.—"How much longer is British policy in important foreign and economic fields to be dominated by Prime Minister Bennett?" asked the London News-Chronicle to-day, commenting on the dispute over British imports of Soviet timber.

It is charged in certain quarters Canada's protests against timber imports from Russia is holding up negotiations for a new Anglo-Russian trade pact. Timber Distributors Ltd., chief handlers of Russian timber, circulated among the members of the House of Commons yesterday evening a lengthy statement declaring the Canadian case to be without foundation.

The News-Chronicle, a Liberal and free trade organ, charged Prime Minister Bennett "has done more injury to British trade than any other individual outside Westminster. Ever since he bullied and bamboozled the British delegation at Ottawa he has cast a similar shadow over all our relations with Russia."

"The threats and complaints of this great imperial patriot held up recent attempts to conclude a rational agreement with Russia while President Roosevelt in less than a fortnight negotiated with Litvinoff a clear-cut and comprehensive treaty with Russia."

MURDER HUNT IN CHICAGO

Earle Wynekoop, Husband of Slain Woman, Denies Knowledge of Crime

Life Insurance Policy Has Woman's Mother-in-law as Beneficiary

Associated Press
Chicago, Nov. 23.—Shortly after Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker had declared "some member of the household" was the killer, Earle Wynekoop, twenty-seven, was held by police to-day for questioning and denied any knowledge of the operating-room murder of his wife Rheta, twenty-three.

The young widower walked down an alley to the rear door of his home. A few minutes later he was hustled out of the front and taken in a squad car to the Fillmore Street police station to be questioned.

Wynekoop, apprised of the sensational death of his wife while in Kansas City yesterday, had returned by train without being noticed by police, who guarded every station.

The body of Mrs. Earle Wynekoop was found as it lay nearly nude on a table in the home of her mother-in-law, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop.

In addition to the $5,000 insurance policy taken out by Dr. Wynekoop on her daughter-in-law November 14, another policy for $3,000, also carrying a double indemnity, was found to-day. A life insurance company informed Corner Frank Walsh it had issued the policy November 2, with Earle Wynekoop and his sister Catherine the beneficiaries.

Dr. Wynekoop herself is beneficiary of the $5,000 policy on the life of the slain woman.

Police who detained him said Earle at first denied his identity and admitted it only after neighbors and children gathered about the house chorused: "That's Earle."

Earle told the police he left the night on a Rock Island train and arrived at his home late.

Police Capt. John Steg announced Wynekoop had made a categorical denial of any knowledge concerning his wife's death. Steg quoted Wynekoop:

Measures To Counteract Currency Swing Caused By Roosevelt Are Reported

SUPPORTS FRENCH PREMIER IN FIGHT

EDOUARD HERRIOT

Paris, Nov. 23.—Premier Albert Sarraut began a fight for the life of his cabinet in the Chamber of Deputies to-day with the odds against him on his programme to save the franc.

At resumption of debate on the ministry's economy and tax project, the prediction was voiced in the lobby the government would fall before night.

Former Premier Edouard Herriot, barely recovered from a serious illness, threw all his skill and influence behind attempts to rally the government's scattered forces.

Some consideration was given here to President Roosevelt's speech yesterday evening, in which he talked of fighting the "powerful," the "intolerant" and the "obstinate" for "the things which we believe to be right."

Fire Twenty Miles From Los Angeles Destroys Numerous Cabins and Some Larger Homes

Los Angeles, Nov. 23.—After destroying numerous small cabins and some larger homes in the northern section of Tujunga and imperiling scores of fire-fighters, a stubborn forest fire veered away from the little foothill town twenty miles north of here and apparently left it safe to-day. Most of the population of 3,000 had evacuated it.

Estimates of the number of cabins and houses destroyed ran as high as 150, but fire fighting officials said there was no way of accurately checking the number until later.

Damage to the valuable foothill section, including "Redwood" groves, was estimated as possibly $300,000.

MAKE WAY TO SAFETY
One hundred and seventy men, cut off by the roaring brush fire in the foothills, were reported safe this morning by a motorcycle officer who ran a gauntlet of flames and found them scurrying to safety.

The men, county welfare workers engaged on unemployment relief projects, were making their way over the hills and apparently were in no danger, the officer said.

Concern was expressed for the safety of forty additional fire-fighters, members of the Civilian Conservation Corps, who had failed to report to their headquarters for more than two hours.

Ashes were falling in the San Fernando Valley.

Federal Advisory Council Opposes Monetary Moves of Government

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 23.—Pyrotechnical debate failed to develop indications of a change to-day in the United States administration's monetary policy as Henry Morgenthau Jr., Acting Secretary of the Treasury, prepared to talk over latest developments with President Roosevelt.

Mr. Morgenthau will leave this evening for Warm Springs, Ga., to keep an engagement to-morrow with the President. The gold-buying plan will be discussed thoroughly.

No authoritative official here had forecast whether the decision at Warm Springs would be for continued administration silence or a counter-offensive to meet that set off by Dr. O. M. W. Sprague's resignation and criticism of the policy as leading to "unrestrained inflation."

Some consideration was given here to President Roosevelt's speech yesterday evening, in which he talked of fighting the "powerful," the "intolerant" and the "obstinate" for "the things which we believe to be right."

Brush Blaze Losses Set At $3,000,000

Los Angeles, Nov. 23.—Evidence that a fifteen-month-old ward of the Windsor-Walkerville Children's Shelter had been forcibly fed by the assistant matron, Miss Catherine Strang, was given as the second day of the hearing into charges against the Strang sisters, head matron and assistant, opened to-day, M. A. Sorsboll, Ontario Deputy Minister of Public Health, is presiding at the investigation as commissioner.

"Little Peggy," fifteen months old, frequently had to be coaxed to eat her meals, Miss Estelle Coles, former shelter attendant, testified.

During one feeding the child was struck with a spoon. Miss Coles told of other instances where Little Peggy had been mistreated.

BEATEN ON BACKS
After three boys, J. Williams, R. King and Leonard Amin, had played truant and returned home, they were beaten over their sunburned backs with a stick by Miss Catherine Strang, testified Miss Coles.

At yesterday's hearing Miss Catherine McDonald, twenty-five-year-old former nurse at the institution, told the commissioner she had witnessed numerous instances in which children had been ill-treated, beaten, forcibly fed and subjected to severe punishment for infractions of rules.

Miss McDonald charged the matron, Miss Magdalene Strang, and her sister, Catharine, with unnecessary severity towards the children. Principal of the institution, Miss Strang, was aroused among spectators by Miss McDonald's story of treatment accorded four-year-old "Buddy," whom she knew by no other name. "That child died."

Announcement of Move to Protect Export Trade of United Kingdom Is Expected; Increase in Tariff Rates Suggested to Bar Flood of Shipments Into Britain

Man, Requests Heard By the Government

Canadian Press
London, Nov. 23.—Confronted with clamors from widespread sections for some safeguards against effects of the United States foreign trade, the British Government let it be known through an authoritative source to-day plans had been prepared to protect manufacturers and exporters.

Whether these plans are to be put into effect immediately, or what they are, is not revealed. General opinion is that so far as domestic producers are concerned, the benefits accruing to United States exporters through the dollar's fall will be countered by increased tariffs.

There was not in any quarter to-day, however, expectation such tariffs would be increased immediately. In the House of Commons Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain told questioners, who asserted the dollar's decline had already in certain instances completely wiped out tariff protection, representations could be made to the tariff advisory board.

UNITED ACTION URGED

The British Empire Producers' Association has passed a resolution urging united action by the governments of the empire; the Federation of British Industries is giving careful study to the problem, and from many business circles, including the British Chamber of Commerce in Buenos Aires, have come demands for action.

NOT SUCCESSFUL YET
Sir Edward Danson, chairman of the British Empire Producers and recognized authority on empire and colonial trade, told the Canadian Press this afternoon the aim of President Roosevelt was to depreciate the United States dollar in an endeavor to raise the internal level of commodity prices.

"If the United States policy," continued Sir Edward, "does not bring a commensurate rise in commodity prices, it will be a failure."

Lumbermen of B.C. To Reply to British Imports Statement

with the statements made by the Timber Distributors Limited. These statements are quite ridiculous in view of British Columbia alone having already guaranteed ability to supply 350,000 standards (700,000 feet board measure) to the United Kingdom in 1934 if the business is forthcoming.

"Mainly as a result of the temporary embargo this year," continued Mr. Mackin, "we have trebled our business and this is complete proof of our ability entirely to supplant Russian timber if afforded an opportunity."

"It is Russia that dominates the market, not Finland."

BRITISH STATEMENT
 London, Nov. 23.—The Canadian complaint about British importation of Russian timber was attacked in a vigorous fashion yesterday evening by Timber Distributors Limited, chief handlers of the imports from Russia, who circulated a 1,200-word statement among all members of the House of Commons declaring the Canadian case "completely false to stand the least serious expert examination."

Canada has for a long time protested strenuously that great imports of Russian timber by the United Kingdom are contrary to the Ottawa-United Kingdom trade agreement. The Dominion's last formal complaint was forwarded to Moscow by the British Board of Trade. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain, who has taken a prominent part in the case, was laid up yesterday with an attack of influenza.

Reports were widely circulated in the last few days that Timber Distributors and agents of Soviet timber exporting organizations had already signed a contract for 1934, but the London Times yesterday said the negotiations had not yet been concluded. The Times added the negotiations were on the basis of an import quota of maximum of 450,000 standards, compared with 435,000 standards this year, and on an increase in price.

(In the House of Commons last Tuesday evening, a Labor member, condemning the Canadian complaint, was holding up negotiations for a new Anglo-Russian trade pact, said it was "atrocious" that Canada should prevent Britain concluding the pact).

"STREAM OF COLUMNY"

Timber Distributors' statement declared "that in view of the stream of calumny in respect of the importation of Russian timber, the cry of Russian or Canadian timber makes an irresistible popular appeal. But what are the facts?"

The statement says that Timber Distributors Limited, comprising 200 firms, practically all importers, ensures the quantity of timber shipped from Russia is strictly limited to their normal share of the market, and "contains not a single piece of Russian timber has been 'dumped' since 1930."

DECLARED BEST
 "Russian raw material is better than any obtainable elsewhere," the statement goes on. "Canada's place in the markets was already taken by Finland before Russia entered in appreciable volume after the revolution. Canada, thanks to the 10 per cent preference, is selling wood-goods in Britain at prices with which no other producer can compete."

"Most of the Canadian shipments must come in complete cargoes, owing to the lack of convenient shipping facilities such as are obtainable for the European trade. Douglas fir is generally regarded as inferior to the redwood from Finland. The distance from British Columbia will always be a serious geographical handicap."

CHANGES STATED NEEDED
 Canadian producers have scarcely made adequate efforts to adapt their methods of manufacture to the complex and exacting requirements of Britain, and it is doubtful whether the Pacific Coast can ever compete, owing to the size and texture of its raw material."

MARKET IN U.S.
 "The natural outlet for Canadian timber is the American continent. Removal of the United States duty on Canadian timber would deprive the Canadian shippers much of their interest in the British market."

"In the event of Russian supplies being cut off, a temporary artificial shortage would be created involving an immediate increase in the cost of our exports. The shortage could be made good by Baltic exporters within twelve months, especially as Russian competition is not likely to be a serious factor in the British market."

The statement concludes that the pretensions that Canada would fill any gap created by stoppage of Russian supplies cannot be substantiated, and that the Canadian plea for prohibition of Russian timber completely fails to stand the least serious expert examination.

IMMIGRATION PLAN DEBATED

Hornby Scheme Envisages Settlers on Canadian Farms From Britain

Canadian Press.
 Toronto, Nov. 23.—Commenting on the statement made at Calgary by Brig.-Gen. M. L. Hornby that four locations had been chosen in Ontario for settlement of British immigrants, W. C. Cain, deputy minister of lands and forests, said it was an arrangement had been made "it is between General Hornby and private individuals."

He said the Ontario government had reached no agreement on a land settlement policy, although it had held informal discussions with General Hornby.

Calgary, Nov. 23.—Eleven settlements of 100 farms each are already being lined up under the so-called Hornby scheme for British immigration to Canada. Brig.-Gen. M. L. Hornby of Lethbridge said in an interview yesterday evening, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick workers are arranging for two in each province, three will be located in Quebec and four in Ontario, according to Gen. Hornby.

Gen. Hornby estimated the new farms would absorb 5,000 persons. His ultimate aim, he said, was the establishment of 250 such settlements accommodating 125,000 persons, with a yearly uninterrupted flow thereafter of about 5,000 families a year.

IN NEW BRUNSWICK
 Of the 200 farms planned in New Brunswick, the general said about 70 per cent had already been lined up with the co-operation of the New Brunswick Colonization Department.

Three of the Ontario settlements would be laid out in Western Ontario and one in the eastern part of the province. The Ontario Department of Colonization, which was arranging for one of the groups of farms, he said, was co-operating with the Canadian Pacific Railway, which would line up two settlements, and the Canadian National Railway, which planned to establish one 100-farm unit.

Vancouver Police Called to Quell Disturbances in Men's Institute

Canadian Press.
 Vancouver, Nov. 23.—Police were called yesterday evening to quell a series of disturbances at the Men's Institute, Hamilton Street, a charitable institution for single unemployed men operated by a citizens' committee, and succeeded only after much damage had been done to the furnishings and equipment of the place.

During the supper hour the inmates of the place, in response to a pre-arranged signal, suddenly upset all the tables in the place and smashed crockery and furniture. Officers from headquarters restored peace, but later another signal was given by tapping on the floor of the dormitory and the men leaped from their cots, which they hurled through windows, then turned their attention to destroying fittings of the place.

Six officers had been left on guard after the first disturbance, but found themselves unable to handle the 300 inmates of the place so sent in a call to headquarters for reinforcements. Inspector R. Munro responded with a squad of men and the rioters were subdued.

 Gloucester Bay, N.S., Nov. 23.—A rifle bullet crashed through a window early today and killed Mrs. William Wilkinson, who was seated at her dining table, as she warmed herself beside a neighbor's stove after a disturbance in her home had caused her to flee in night attire with her son, Douglas, thirteen.

The terrified boy's voice summoned police to Daniel McLeod's home and they found the body of the thirty-six-year-old woman lying behind the stove. She had been shot below the right eye as she sat with Mrs. McLeod and the boy. She died instantly.

Two hours after the woman had been shot police detained her brothers-in-law, Walter and Harry Wilkinson, and held them for questioning. "The police visited the Wilkinson home shortly after the tragedy, the dead woman's husband showed them a box of cartridges from which two were missing. He said his 38.55 calibre rifle, which he used for hunting, also was missing."

Negotiations Reopened For Floodlights at Royal Athletic Park

Victorians will see baseball and football played under floodlights at the Royal Athletic Park, according to a statement issued yesterday by the city council.

The scheme to install floodlights at the Royal Athletic Park will cost about $9,000, according to estimates made by a delegation before the parks committee of the city council are submitted.

The scheme to install floodlights at the Royal Athletic Park will cost about $9,000, according to estimates made by a delegation before the parks committee of the city council are submitted.

In future years, it is claimed, the returns from larger gates attracted by night games would more than repay the city for the waiving of the percentage in 1934.

No action will be taken by the city until the full project has been submitted in writing.

The pound closed at $3.37½, for a loss of 1½ cents.

The Canadian dollar dropped to 2 13-16 at noon and finished at 2½ per cent premium, a loss of 15-16 of one per cent premium.

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON
 London, Nov. 23.—The United States dollar experienced a substantial recovery in late dealings here to-day after the close of the foreign exchange market, gaining 9 cents from the last official quotation to reach $3.36 to the pound sterling as compared with the closing quotation of $3.35.

At the end of the day's trading, it recorded somewhat from its best figure to $3.35½.

In the official trading the dollar opened at $3.40½.

The late improvement was occasioned by the unchanged United States gold price.

The French franc weakened to $3.32, then centred round buying helped its recovery to a close of $3.33.

U.S. GOLD PRICE
 Washington, Nov. 23.—The United States administration to-day left the domestic newly mined gold price unchanged at $33.76 an ounce.

It was the third day the quotation had been held at that figure.

Meanwhile the value of gold at London was $33.96 on a basis of sterling opening at $4.50½ to the pound.

LONDON GOLD PRICE
 Montreal, Nov. 23.—The price of bar gold in London to-day was $32.72 an ounce in terms of the Canadian dollar, based on the London equivalent of 125s. 8d. and the quotation of sterling in Montreal at $3.20½. Yesterday the Canadian equivalent was $33.27.

WANTS YOUTH IN POLITICS

nance Minister, Hon. John Hart, has already told us what a deplorable state the finances of the province are in. We have cheques on hand right now ready to go out that are far in excess of what we have in the treasury."

WILL ENFORCE LAWS
 The minister told his audience he would do all in his power to see that equal distribution of work was put into effect and that no man would receive more than one day's work in one day.

"Reports are being brought to me every day of abuses being made of the standard hours of work," he declared. "One of my first acts will be to bring into force labor laws that have been forgotten."

Suggestions were being made to him daily of how to build up industry, and some of them would be put to use, he asserted.

"We have already been approached by manufacturers with plans for expansion of industry in British Columbia," he said.

Mr. Pearson declared that in 1930 he had suggested to the government that it establish a board of industrial relations. "If this plan had been followed we would at least have been assured of an orderly retreat," he said.

The speaker added it was the proposal of the government to set up an economic council. "Anyone," he declared, "who is attempting to hinder the administration of the Liberal Government is an enemy of British Columbia."

In referring to the criticism that had been levelled at Premier Pattullo in his choice of a cabinet, the speaker stated it was the Liberal leader's privilege to choose whom he thought most suited for their respective tasks.

SLOAN SPEAKS
 "The C.P.C. candidates have declared I will not make a suitable Attorney-General because I am too young," declared Hon. Gordon Sloan.

"Who was it answered the call when the country needed men in 1917? It is high time young men had a say in the administration of the province."

The candidate was of the opinion that as long as young men were members of the Legislature the country would grow and expand. "The day of the would-be politician who makes promises and then fails to keep them when elected is past," he declared.

He was also in favor of national control of the credit system. "Economic and monetary reform is just as necessary now as before November 2," he said.

TRIBUTE TO PREMIER
 A tribute to the organizing ability of Premier Pattullo was paid by Gordon Sloan. "I pledge with the electors to give Premier Pattullo every chance to carry out his plan of work and wages," he said. "If he fails, you will have the opportunity to rebuke him at the proper time."

"What I reluctantly oppose," he told a large audience, "are some of the methods by which he (the President) seeks to attain his goal, some of the misconceptions that seem to becloud his purpose and the disregard of the accumulated experience of centuries manifested by all too many of his advisers."

By his unexpected stand, Mr. Warburg, who was financial adviser to the United States delegation to the World Economic Conference in London, aligned himself with Dr. O. M. W. Sprague, who this week resigned as special adviser to the Treasury.

The old Hippodrome is alive. The "Hip" is now the Diane. There is an orchestra, a blues singer, a pair of negro tap dancers and even a "pony chorus" and, of course, a bar the whole length of the room.

Across Pacific, that other Hippodrome which revelled in its tawdry splendor in the Barbary Coast era, is having a beauty treatment, too.

The Diane, however, has trials. "Spider" Kelly is busy with music and dancing and a bar.

Two more Barbary Coast pavilions will be operating by December in the one short block of misnamed Pacific Avenue.

PREVENTION OF CANCER URGED

Moderation in Eating Advised By Dr. James Ewing of New York

Canadian Press
New York, Nov. 23.—Importance of cancer prevention was emphasized in a statement today by Dr. James Ewing, director of the Memorial Hospital, New York.

The avoidable causes of cancer are very numerous, the doctor pointed out, but he gave "two very simple, easily adopted recommendations."

"First, habits of moderation in eating, drinking and smoking; and second, the liberal use of soap and water on the skin and in all the accessible cavities of the body."

The statement in part said: "The sensational and extravagant statements about cancer attributed to me at the Madrid congress, in a paper on cancer prevention, seem to have caused as much disturbance to cancer patients and to many physicians that an effort toward correction is demanded."

"The statement that 'the idea of discovering a cure for cancer is absurd,' should have read: 'The idea of discovering a single universal cure for all cancers is absurd.'"

ACTIVITIES OF NUDISTS
"The word nudism did not appear in my paper. I know nothing about nudism. Yet there is a modern tendency to bold and repeated exposure of the body to wind, and especially to sunlight, which, carried to excess, produces some cancers of the skin directly and causes chronic changes in the skin of many subjects, which eventually lead to cancer of the skin."

"In order to emphasize the importance of cancer prevention, it was pointed out that only about 35 per cent of the total incidence of cancer falls in a class in which a high proportion of cases may be expected and indeed, are now being accomplished. These include, especially, cancer of the skin, lip, mouth, breast and uterus, and also many other less frequent forms. The larger group of 65 per cent includes the internal inaccessibles cancers, mainly of the esophagus, stomach, liver, pancreas and kidneys, with which the cures are comparatively few. It is not justified to call internal cancers 'incurable,' for by employing the best modern methods of diagnosis and treatment many cures are being obtained."

NO REPRIEVE FOR TWO MEN

OPEN MISSION SCHOOL IN TOKIO

United Church's Fine New Building Opened by Dr. H. Keenleyside

Tokio, Nov. 23 (By Percy Whitehead, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The United Church of Canada mission in Japan has been appropriately celebrated by the formal dedication of the new building of the Toyo Eisa Jogakko (Oriental English School for Girls). The ceremony was held November 6 in the Margaret Craig Memorial Hall of the high school section.

The girls' school is conducted under the auspices of the mission and holds a prominent place among the educational institutions for Japanese girls in Tokyo.

The Canadian Minister, Hon. Herbert Maczler, had been expected to be present to deliver a speech but was unable to attend on account of illness and the address was made instead by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, first secretary of the Canadian Legation. Among other speakers was Dr. Daisichiro Tagawa, president of the Christian Education Society.

The new building is of four stories and covers 72,000 square feet, built around three sides of an open court. It includes kindergarten, primary and high school departments and is equipped with gymnasium, teachers' and students' dining-rooms, chapel, dental room, assembly hall and library.

VATICAN PAPER UPHOLDS LEAGUE

Papal Organ Opposes Italian Journals By Saying Geneva Not to Blame For Divisions

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Rome, Nov. 23.—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano printed a strong defence today of the League of Nations, from which Italy's imminent withdrawal has been hinted.

The Osservatore advised against attempts to reconstruct the League at present, "when there are so many divisions among the peoples." Reasons for the "present bitterness," it added, could not entirely and in justice be attributed to the League. "If some fundamental causes of the present bitterness are examined it will be found these do not arise in Geneva, but despite Geneva," the newspaper went on.

The Osservatore Romano's attitude was in marked contrast to that of the Italian press, which has bitterly criticized the League and has hinted, broadly Italy will abandon it.

SUCCESSION TAX TESTED IN COURT

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 23.—Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald reserved judgment in the B.C. Supreme Court, yesterday after hearing argument on validity of the British Columbia Succession Duty Act.

The case arose following a recent demand by the provincial deputy minister of finance for $623 and $524 succession duties from the respective estates of Oscar Promis and Mrs. Sophie Promis Frank, both of whom owned interests in Victoria property.

Executors of the estates contested payment of the tax on the ground it was similar to the Alberta Succession Duty Act, which was held invalid in a recent decision of the Privy Council in London.

Counsel for the Minister of Finance argued the two acts were not identical.

DEATH CAUSE IS DISCOVERED

Amoebic Dysentery Contracted By Five Lumbermen Visiting Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Deaths of five lumber executives in widely scattered cities of Canada and the United States were laid by The Journal of the American Medical Association yesterday to amoebic dysentery after they attended a meeting in Chicago last summer.

The victims were listed as W. B. forty-three, president of a Boston lumber company; A. M., sixty-four, president of a Toronto lumber company; M. E. R., sixty-seven, president of a Seattle lumber company; A. C. L. J., sales manager of a Louisiana lumber company; and R. L. K., executive of a Louisiana lumber firm.

The disease has since been traced to several Chicago hotels, at one of which the victims stayed while attending a meeting of the lumber company.

In all fifteen deaths, including that of Texas Guinan, night-club performer, who died in Vancouver, have been attributed to the disease.

TWO MEN GIVEN JAIL SENTENCES

New Westminster, Nov. 23.—Norman Harris, twenty-four, of Vancouver, was sentenced to two and a half years in the penitentiary, and Alexander Murphy, twenty-nine, no fixed address, to six months in Oakalla by Magistrate H. L. Edmonds in police court here yesterday.

Both men pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft of women's dresses valued at $1,200 from Silverman's Ladies' Wear Store on Columbia Street, November 14.

Harris was given an additional three months' imprisonment, to run concurrently with the longer term, on a charge of stealing an auto owned by C. O. MacCowan of Port Moody.

The men were arrested a few hours after the robbery was reported. The stolen dresses were recovered in brush near Franklin Street by Vancouver detectives, and the stolen auto was found nearby.

With an overwhelming majority he defeated Alvin S. Savage, also independent, who was re-elected alderman. Davison, 30,366; Savage, 3,315.

O. F. Nelson Faces Charge in Samoa

Canadian Press
Apia, Samoa, Nov. 23.—O. F. Nelson, known for many years as the "Sterny Petrel" of Samoa and once banished from the islands for alleged seditious activities against the New Zealand mandate, is listed once more for trial.

Nelson is head of a large Samoan trading concern. He returned to the islands only recently after his deportation in 1927. He was arrested on a charge of complicity in seditious activities in connection with the Mau, a league of Samoans, remanded for a week and subsequently released on conditional bail.

Meanwhile authorities are proceeding with charges against eight Samoan chiefs, arrested on complaints of unlawfully collecting money and engaging in general seditious activities.

BRITISH MAIL REVENUE RISES

Unpredicted Increase in Post Office Receipts Regarded as Trade Indication

Associated Press
New York, Nov. 23.—A special cable from London to The New York Times yesterday announced a jump in British postal receipts, indicating an increase in trade, revenue as an index of trade activity.

The cable read: "Outstanding among items in the report of the Exchequer to-night was the high net post office receipts, which are normally regarded as an index of trade activity."

"For the past week this was $1,250,000, compared with only $1,000,000 in the corresponding week last year. The receipts to date this year of $15,150,000 are $2,800,000 above the figure for the same period last year and $1,450,000 above the budget estimate."

"Total returns in the last week show ordinary revenue at $12,553,790 exceeded ordinary expenditures of $8,234,319 by $4,319,471. The floating debt, at $969,035,000, is now $2,510,000 greater than a year ago."

WILL SUBMIT WATER BY-LAW

Courtenay to Vote on Improvements to Reservoir and System

Courtenay, Nov. 23.—The necessity of carrying to a completion the improvements to the reservoir and water system before the next dry season was brought up by Ald. McKennie at Monday's council meeting, and it was decided to put a by-law to the election at the civic elections, thus avoiding the delay and expense of holding a separate plebiscite.

It was proposed that the plebiscite be put under three headings, the cost of completion of the reservoir, improvements within the city, and the cost of a twelve-inch pipe and a belt line at Courtenay Avenue. The chairman of the water committee was asked to prepare the proposed by-law for the next meeting.

A letter from Chief Cleland with reference to the Courtenay Avenue area was a factor leading up to the decision. Mayor Simms informed the council that Chief Cleland's object at present in making these recommendations was to have the council endorse them for presentation to the incoming council. A motion to this effect was passed.

Chief Cleland recommended that in order to give proper fire protection to the district adjacent to the Cumberland Road and King Street, a hydrant be placed at that point, and if any more building were done on Central Avenue the alley running between Cumberland and King Street, a fire main be surfaced and opened to allow access with trucks. The necessity for joining up the present water connections on Courtenay Avenue with a four-inch main was stressed. At present pressure and supply on Courtenay Avenue is of very little use for efficient fire fighting, but if this belt line were put in conditions would be improved. The department, he said, has always dreaded a fire in the area supplied by the main on Courtenay Avenue and suggested that these recommendations be followed out at the earliest possible moment so that they would not be forced to face another dry season under present conditions.

In discussing domestic water supply for home owners building on Nation Street, it was decided to leave this in abeyance for the present.

HOSPITAL LOSS SHOWS INCREASE

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 23.—The Vancouver General Hospital was run at a loss of $124,789 for the first ten months of this year, the board of directors has been informed. The ten-month deficit was approximately $5,000 above that estimated at the beginning of the year. Dr. H. W. Riggs, chairman, told the board approximately 60 per cent of the hospital patients at present were non-paying.

BIG PROFITS ON THEATRE STOCK

Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 23.—A profit of almost $4,000,000 within two weeks to bankers on stock they acquired at less than market prices from General Theatres Equipment Inc. was disclosed yesterday to the United States Senate bank and stock investigators.

Earlier the banking committee had received evidence paper profits of about $16,000,000 were made by promoters of the equipment concern from purchase of film stock at below the market price. "The $4,000,000 profits were realized, the committee was told, by a group of bankers nearly all represented on the board of the theatre holding company which sold them the stock."

WHEAT ACREAGE SHOWS CHANGES

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Canada will probably be able to reduce its wheat carry-over by the end of the present crop year, July 31, next. The United States will doubtless be successful in materially reducing its wheat stores by that date. This is forecast by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Australia will have a crop this year of possibly 185,000,000 bushels. Last year it was 210,000,000. Argentina may raise 300,000,000 bushels. Add the production estimates of the four countries together and the total is considerably below that of a year ago.

On the other hand, Europe has grown more wheat. Latest estimates place the total European crop at 1,645,000,000 bushels this year. Last year it was 1,480,000,000. The heavy European crop is limiting exports to those countries.

Washington, Nov. 23 (Associated Press).—The farm administration announced $729,335 has been paid to 15,072 farmers who are participating in the United States government's wheat acreage reduction campaign. Contracts have been received from 362 of the country's wheat growing countries.

IS IT SO FANTASTIC?

It does not do these days to scoff at even the most fantastic prediction affecting the future of aviation. All sorts of records undreamed of a year or so ago are being continually set up and the public has almost ceased to exclaim at them. This is the reason why the invention of "seadromes" should not be considered with undue scepticism. He proposes a line of steel and cement floating islands across the Atlantic to serve as landing stations for airplanes carrying a heavier payload than is now possible. For sixteen years this native of Ontario has been urging the adoption of this scheme of simplifying the Atlantic flight. Now the United States government announces its intention to give Mr. Armstrong his long-coveted opportunity to demonstrate the soundness of his plan. Consider a platform 1,225 feet long and 300 feet wide, so buoyed in mid-ocean that it will ride up any gale, escape inundation by waves, always trail into the wind and invariably present a substantially horizontal surface to landing and departing planes, and it is easy to understand why Mr. Armstrong has encountered criticism. What we have, says The New York Times, is not merely a gigantic barge subject to the shearing and bending forces of enormous waves, but an open-work structure through which wind and water may theoretically pass with little resistance. After patient experimenting with models and tanks, and answering arguments of the sceptical, Mr. Armstrong has been able to present an impressive case. Yet the engineers of the United States Public Works Administration have decided that before embarking on a full-size venture it were best to experiment with one-quarter of a seadrome at a cost of $1,500,000. Nature works with capricious storms and with masses of water weighing millions of tons.

Even if the preliminary tests are successful, the New York daily goes on, spending $30,000,000 for a chain of seadromes will be debatable. Nature provided landing places not more than 500 miles apart on the Iceland-Greenland Great Circle. Will its weather, the worst in the world, remain unquerable? Even the leap of 2,000 miles to the Azores on the course that Mr. Armstrong hopes to improve is no longer commercially hopeless in the light of recent airplane progress. As The Times concludes, "It is now possible to build machines which, with a cruising range of 3,000 miles and a speed of 160 miles an hour, can carry a payload of five passengers, 500 pounds of mail and a crew of six. Surely this is not the end. As for the builders of Zeppelins, they will sigh when they think what they could do with $30,000,000. Swift and picturesque as the airplane may be, to them the crossing and recrossing of the Atlantic with a "squad" of paying passengers is already a commercial reality."

ACTION NECESSARY

In his speech over the radio on Monday night Premier Bennett told us that we are in "a depression so universal as to disturb the whole fabric of our civilization."

The people of Canada and other countries have a pretty good idea by this time of the nature of the trouble which is afflicting them. No verbal embroidery is necessary to emphasize it. What the people of this Dominion are looking for from Mr. Bennett is not a dismal reminder of what is being rubbed in from day to day in a thousand and one ways, but some sign of a practical policy which will provide people with work and enable those at present idle to begin earning again.

Nobody would be so foolish as to suggest that Mr. Bennett or anybody else can bring about such an economic transformation overnight. What is worrying so many people, however, is the unpleasant fact that the government at Ottawa has permitted more than three years to elapse without facing conditions as they should have been faced. As far back as the winter of 1930 it was apparent to even the most unimaginative that this as well as other countries were in for a rough ride.

We can quite understand that the Prime Minister has had many remedies placed in his hands, most of them no doubt utterly impractical of application, but it is a thousand pities he did not adopt Mr. Mackenzie King's proposal for a competent impartial council which could have investigated unemployment conditions from every standpoint and given the government the benefit of its advice. Not only would such a course have relieved the Prime Minister of a good deal of his major problem, but it also would have resulted in expenditure of money for which there now would be something to show. In the absence of any practical measure, however, it has been necessary to give direct relief to many thousands of Canadians who have been figuratively eating their hearts out because there has been no form of work for them to do—and there is nothing to show for the outlay.

It is not Mr. Bennett looking down our noses in scepticism of the Roosevelt experiment. Mr. Roosevelt may have set himself a long and difficult grind, but the fact remains that he is moving, and if he does not cover the whole distance laid down in his original itinerary, he at least will have the satisfaction of knowing that he got started and actually has results to show for that part of the journey already accomplished. We in Canada have derived some benefit because we have been selling more to the United States recently than we were selling a few months ago; this in spite of the high tariff.

Our own problem, however, is a Canadian one. A bold course would ease the situation. Waiting for something to turn up will not get us very far. Our people would like to see Mr. Bennett get a little nearer to their problem than he is.

THE RADIO INDUSTRY

In the first quarter of the present year sales of radio receiving sets were much below last year and the year before, but the second quarter saw an advance over the corresponding period of 1932. At the request of radio manufacturers quarterly reports on production and sales were inaugurated in 1931 by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, and the report covering the first half of the present year has now been issued, fifteen manufacturers reporting to the bureau during the half-year.

Sales of radio sets in Canada during the first half of the current year numbered 35,898. During the first three months 21,814 sets were sold compared with 42,404 sets in the first quarter of 1932; but, during the second quarter, sales amounted to 14,084 sets this year against 11,210 sets last year. The selling value at the factories of the sets sold in the first half of 1933 was $1,370,566. The largest number of sets was sold in the Province of Ontario, with Quebec second. Sets sold in Ontario numbered 16,840 and in Quebec 7,139. British Columbia ranked third in number of sets sold, Manitoba fourth and Alberta fifth.

Production of radio sets in Canada during the first half of the current year totaled 22,245 with a factory value of $626,541. A little more than half the output consisted of table and mantel sets, which numbered 11,971 with a value of $227,386. Consoles produced amounted to 5,405 valued at $221,955. Both the preceding classes are set operated on medium wave. Combination phonograph and radio sets numbered 294 with a value of $28,986, and combination medium and short wave sets 605 worth $16,995. Battery sets numbered 3,970 with a value of $131,219. Of the latter 3,809 were portable or for use in automobiles. Production figures include all sets manufactured or assembled in Canada but do not include imports of complete machines. Imports of complete radio sets are not shown separately in the trade returns.

A comparatively new industry with a strong popular appeal, radio has grown rapidly. Broadcasting of the human voice by radio first commenced in Canada with test programmes carried out by the Canadian Marconi Company in Montreal during the winter of 1919. Regular organized programmes were begun in December, 1920, by the same company on a wave length of 1,200 metres. In April, 1922, the establishment of broadcasting stations on a general scale was commenced, fifty-two private, commercial and amateur licenses being granted during the fiscal year 1922-23. During the fiscal year 1931-32 there were sixty-six broadcasting stations in operation in Canada, and the number of licensed receiving sets was 598,358. Even in the three years since 1929 the number of receiving set licenses in the Dominion has more than doubled.

THE APOLOGISTS

It is quite fitting, of course, that Canon Hinchliffe, Mr. J. W. Jones, and Mr. Pooley should appear on the platform in support of the Conservative candidates who are running in Victoria next Monday.

They will appear as defenders of the late government. It is significant, however, that Mr. Jones was beaten in his old stronghold, Canon Hinchliffe thought it wiser to withdraw from the fight, and Mr. Pooley got in by the skin of his teeth. The candidates these former ministers are aiding are asking the electors of Victoria to do something the electors of the province outside of this city—including the electors of Saanich—declined to do, and that is to endorse the record of the late government by putting them in the opposition in the new Legislature.

Asking the electorate of this city to do anything so absurd—or to hold the opposition bag for British Columbia—is no compliment to its intelligence. Vancouver Centre is going to elect two Liberals. Why should Victoria take the "leavings"?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE LAW OF NATURE

The Toronto Star

So it goes in nature. The fishworm subverts underground eating infinitesimal particles of undigestible life; the fish devours the fishworm; the angler catches the fish; the fishery inspector arrests and fines the angler for catching trout that are too small; and there is a new cabinet minister and the fishery inspector is "fired" and a man of sounder politics is appointed in his place. Next the government goes to the polls and is defeated. So, in all nature, living things prey upon each other.

MR. BENNETT'S THREAT

The Winnipeg Tribune

Was Mr. Bennett merely using words in his proclamation at Montreal, or is he preparing a new menu of terror for the Canadian people? He closed the Montreal speech with a note that shocked the nation. He said Canadians in the not distant future might be called upon to face things which would test the very fabric of our national being. But, he added, "We must not flinch from imposing on ourselves the highest standards of self-discipline in fulfilment of our duty to our country, to ourselves, and to one another." It was merely a piece of adjectival emotionalism that should not have been said. If on the other hand it means what it seems to mean, namely, that Mr. Bennett is preparing to call on the Canadian people to make further heavy sacrifices by way of increased taxation, he should be told, promptly and emphatically, we have had that course and are looking for something fresh on the menu.

IDEAL PEDESTRIAN FOUND?

The Glasgow Herald

It is reported from Czechoslovakia that a certain Alois Novotny was run over the other day by a motor car and suffered a severe cut on the head. Mr. Novotny's head had, of course, no serious effect on the car. But the transaction so flustered the driver that he swerved into a lamp-post, which had the victim roasting unsteadily. "How much will it cost me," he said to the astonished driver, "to repair your car?" He then wrote out a cheque on the spot and went home to bed. Is it possible that out of the welter of modern traffic, after years of waiting, exorting, and legislating, the perfect pedestrian has arisen, humble enough to accept the status of bunker in the fairway, and so businesslike that he pays promptly and goes home?

A THOUGHT

He revealeth the deep and secret things; he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.—Daniel ii 22.

Loose Ends

Yes, you must have a new one every month or so, because the three little pigs don't live very long—some original notions for a down-trodden race—some real poetry, such as we can't produce any more—and a daylight robbery next door.

By H. B. W.

LITTLE PIGS

YOU WILL PARDON me if I marvel again at the capacity of the public for grasping ideas that don't matter. It is really amazing how notions spread and sweep across the world these days. Thus a few months ago a fat and homely woman, wagging her diaphragm before a movie camera, said: "Come up and see me sometime." Now you hear it everywhere. It is written into the headlines of America, muttered over the tea cups. Actually the little girl next door, who never saw a movie in her life, said it to her friend Yvonne this very morning.

Then that movie of the three little pigs came out, and the world is repeating the magic words, "Who's afraid of the big, bad wolf?" That, too, is written into the headlines, drawn into political cartoons, dragged into conversation at every opportunity. All this great enlightenment has occurred in the space of a few weeks. Next month it will be something else. Someone will say something in New York or Hollywood and soon the whole world will be repeating it like a parrot.

This shows you the possibility of communicating ideas to all the people in quick time. If Mae West's wisecracks and an animated cartoon can be made a part of the world's daily life, serious notions can be spread about with the same speed. Governments can get their policies over to the public, leaders can secure support instantaneously for vital programmes, a whole people can see in one man, the greatest problem of government can be solved, the world can be made safe for democracy.

But that is just the trouble. The modern means of communicating ideas have bred their own destruction. They have created such an appetite for something new that nothing lasts more than a few weeks. A statesman can announce a world-shaking programme to-day, but unless he has another world-shaking programme next month, he is forgotten. President Roosevelt is finding that out. He put over his New Deal in the most amazing fashion, but already the public is getting bored and skeptical, clamoring for something else, though the New Deal is only six months old—an insatiable appetite for change, for a different sensation. A few years ago a statesman could not keep the public abreast of him. Now a statesman can't keep above the public. He must keep pulling little pigs of a different sort out of the hat every week or the big bad wolf of public boredom will eat him right up.

PRIZES

IN HOLLYWOOD and in Denver, Colorado, golf clubs have lately originated an idea which should be useful in this golf-infected community. Instead of offering the usual silver cups for tournament prizes (they are no real use anyway), these clubs have offered for first prize the free services of a divorce lawyer to the winner—something practical, one of the essentials of life down there. The second prize is two weeks' free medical care and a third an accident insurance policy.

In this backward region, perhaps, these prizes might put a golfer a little off his game, but down there they are so used to such things that the contemplation of a divorce doesn't make a man miss a single putt. Golf, anyway, has always been an encouragement to divorce and a constant cause of desertion of wives or husbands, as the case may be. The American clubs are quite right in discouraging marriage as it is always an impediment to golf. And if marriage interferes with golf, there is only one thing to do. Golfers usually do it.

Yet I hardly think we could offer

A divorce as a prize for our golf tournaments. Our players are still a little too old-fashioned, though they are improving. Rather we should try to offer something as typical of our rough island life as divorce is typical of the more advanced civilization to the south, we could offer our successful golfer a term in the Legislature, though that might put any man off his game, or a guaranteed personal appearance of our sea serpent, or an assurance that within a specified time Dr. Clem Davies would write a letter to the newspaper attacking him, something equally representative of our own unique culture. And for second prize, instead of two weeks' medical treatment I judge that a free burial service might be more suitable in many cases. Golf ages a man prematurely and most golfers, after slicing their drives, are glad to go.

POETRY

SOME PRETTY bad poetry has appeared in print lately. It is not good enough, and yet too good, to be worth reading. What we need is a lousy poet, bad enough to write like it in the language. The man was a genius of a high order. name I forget. He used to write poetry by the barrel and send it to distinguished people all over the world, including the King of England, who acknowledged it graciously and, I suppose, had an enjoyable hour in private.

At night the poet would sometimes slip up behind you as you worked in the newspaper office, thrust a poem under your nose and slip away silently. Everybody in town knew him, the elevator man who wrote poetry at night. Ah, that was poetry! There never has been before or since anything like it in the language. The man was a genius of a high order.

Anyone can write bad poetry. A few can write good poetry. But no one has ever written poetry quite so exquisitely bad as this. It was filled with a kind of divine madness, a capacity for murdering words—almost superhuman. As poetry it was bad beyond measuring; as a unique work of the human intellect it was just that—unique. Surely somebody must have some of this poetry left. There was enough of it floating about the town at one time to paper the Parliament Buildings and inspire the Pattullo Government to desperate deeds. I wish a kind reader would send me some. I should like to print a few lines to show newspaper editors that the divine fire is not quite dead.

TEA PARTY

OUTSIDE MY window this very afternoon, while I was writing this column, a demonstration of the male's inherent superiority occurred before these eyes. The little girl from next door prepared a tea party out there on her yellow table. She laid out four places, one for herself, one for her brother, one for Angus and one for Yvonne, from down the road. She laid out a cookie at each place and a piece of cake (the largest at her own place) and a cup of milk. It was going to be a fine tea party. Then she went down the road to get Angus and Yvonne. I watched her disappear around one corner of the house at a gallop. Around the other corner, cautiously, step by step, came her brother. The sat down at the tea table and very deliberately ate every cookie and cake in sight and gulped down all the milk and went off blowing through his lips, which he likes to think is whistling.

When the hostess and her two guests returned just now they immediately suspected the truth. "Oh, why did they ever bring him home from the hospital?" shrieked the hostess. "He's been at it again!"

"I'm going home," said Angus. But, lying like a gentleman to protect my old friend, I assured them that they were wrong. I said a dog had come along and eaten the cookies. The milk was not so easy to explain, but I hit on the invention of a cat. But in the very climax of my story the real criminal, the little boy next door, came striding down the path and his face was almost buried in a gleaming sheen of sugar about his mouth. They looked at him and they looked at me with a hard, accusing look, and I knew that my reputation for veracity had gone forever.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

TO A NEW FRIEND

You are a house which I have not yet stood before the threshold, peering in; my eager thoughts are all upon you centered. So much to learn, yet how shall I begin? What rooms await me here? What sunlit places. With windows opened to the light? What tranquil chambers and what vaulted spaces Where some day I may linger in delight? Ah, is there song and April laughter yonder. Whose echoes fall but faintly here with— Shall I at last there gladly, freely wander, freed to move by any lifting dream? To me you are an unknown house; O mortal, And so I pause and dream upon the portal.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

November 23, 1908

(From The Times Files)

The twenty-fifth annual report of the Victoria Board of Trade has been distributed. The report is similar to that of other years, containing the annual statements showing the business done and in addition contains appendices in which questions of interest to Victoria are dealt with.

At Oak Bay Saturday afternoon the Bays and the City Rugby teams met for the third time, and with the game resulted in an easy win for the Bays. The two rivals are now even, each having won a game and the third draw.

When the steamer Powhatnan, recently purchased by Mackenzie Bros., and now en route from Hongkong to Vancouver, arrives, she will be christened the Rupert City. Under the latter name she will enter the coasting trade between Vancouver and Prince Rupert as soon as her passenger accommodation is completed.

Seattle Empires, with a total pins of 2,408, won the bowling tournament Saturday night and with it The Province Cup at the new alleys in the Watson's Theatre, Fort Street. The win, however, is conditional on a game with the Vancouver team, of which there were three, which were delayed in reaching the city until midnight Saturday on board the steamer Charnier.

The formation of women's rifle clubs through British Columbia is the work that has interested Staff Sergeant Fred Richardson for the last month on his tour of the province, in addition to the usual attention he gives to helping out the different rifle clubs, which has engaged him on every trip for the past five years.

Other People's Views

"RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE"

To the Editor:—Your editorial of a few days ago, on "Religious Tolerance," suggests the question whether the present general attitude towards religion is not one of indifference and carelessness, rather than tolerance. And as indifference to religion and a loss of moral values are apt to go hand in hand is not the evident and rapid change in the public attitude toward these values significant? As far as any public protest is concerned the young people of the present day can hardly claim that there is anything out of the way in the almost daily accounts in our papers of the "madness" of two, three, and more times divorced people. The apparent vulgarity and even indecency of some of the theatrical presentations of the present, as represented on the billboards and in other advertising, would, twenty or twenty-five years ago have been equalled only in low-class theatres, but little seems to be thought of it to-day. Then, too, it is very evident that the public attitude to Sunday observance is changing rapidly. Of course, too much Sunday keeping is not a moral issue at all, but this apart, we have here a very definite trend away from old habits that were attached to religious faith.

It is interesting to note that this relationship between faith and morals is endorsed by words spoken by the Lord Jesus Christ. On one occasion, when speaking to his followers, He said: "When the Son of Man cometh, He will find faith on the earth." And on another, "As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of Man." The days of Noah were days of widespread and definite departure from God both in faith and in morals. Can we think that our present order is less deserving of God's judgment than that antediluvian civilization which was so terribly punished?

lashed? We note, too, that to the very last Noah preached righteousness, though with little success. But in our day we are far more privileged, and therefore more responsible, in that we have in our hands God's own Word, with its promises of salvation as well as predictions of a coming judgment. G. HOLDCROFT.

SAANICH RELIEF

To the Editor:—Two letters appeared in Saturday night's issue of your paper regarding the unfair treatment meted out to the relief workers of Saanich. Thank God, someone has pity on us and I extend the thanks of the unemployed of Saanich to you for printing such articles, that will open the eyes of the public.

Too often it is heard that men of relief will not work, but that is untrue. We have a few like this, but the majority prefer to do a fair day's work. On the other hand, what can be expected of men who work in muddy ditches with leaky boots, yet even run-

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"This is the cute couple I was telling you about."

"I may live too long or not long enough"

That's why I have taken insurance.

If I outlive my usefulness as a producer, my Life Insurance will guarantee me an income for an independent old age. On the other hand, if I should not live it will guarantee a continuance of the good things of life to my family.

Here's what I have just done:

To round out my insurance estate I secured a Guaranteed Enhanced Protection Policy. The yearly premium amounts to only $10.00 a month, yet it provides $10,000 Life Insurance to age 60, and $5,000 thereafter.

If I desire, I may increase the annual deposits at the end of 5 years to give me $5,000 cash at age 60.

This new policy is offered by the London Life to meet modern conditions. If interested in Life Insurance in case you live too long or not long enough, inquire for particulars to fit your circumstances.

WOULD CHECK BORROWINGS

Herbert Anscomb Urges
Municipal Department Watch
Districts' Loans

Independent Candidate Continues Election Campaign at South Park School

The urgent necessity for the creation of a department of municipal affairs in the provincial government to insure equitable treatment to municipalities which, during the last administration had a large portion of their grants removed and social service burdens added, was stressed by Herbert Anscomb, independent candidate for Victoria, in his campaign address at an enthusiastic meeting in South Park school yesterday evening.

"In this suggestion for a municipal department it is not intended that this should be a new department, but that it should be taken over by one of the ministers already in office, with the inspector of municipalities as his assistant, and should function without extra cost to the province," Mr. Anscomb said.

"The necessity about this department has been brought largely due to the fact that for a long time the municipalities have received very substantial grants from the provincial government and owing to the exigencies of the situation from a provincial viewpoint these grants have not only been withdrawn, but added burdens of a so-called social nature have been placed upon them and a very serious condition exists—bad in fact that in some of the municipalities it is very grave," he continued.

RAD FINANCING RESPONSIBLE

The candidate pointed out that in a number of instances this condition had been brought by the municipalities themselves through bad financing. As an example he cited cases where wooden sidewalks were laid down with an estimated life originally of less than twenty years, and the municipalities council passed bond issues to cover the cost, spread over a period of fifty years. Such things as these should be checked before they started, he claimed, as it was these instances which had brought some of the municipalities to the brink of bankruptcy.

"If the new department of municipal affairs will take such power as is necessary to check the borrowings of the municipalities, it will go a long way to alleviate this condition in the future," commented Mr. Anscomb.

NEW LAND POLICY

The candidate was in favor of a new land policy under which settlers would be instructed to settle near roads and other services, rather than in outlandish districts. He pointed out the road surface of the province was far too great for the population and the restricting of settlement would guard against the necessity for further construction of roads and would consequently relieve the government of a vast expenditure in this direction.

He favored at roadwork being done by contract. "I realize this may have the effect of eliminating a good deal of road work now given to people in the great outlying portions of the province, but we have got to look facts in the face and get away for all time from the costly and inefficient method existing at present," he said. "It is useless laying the blame at the door of departmental officials. I have got to lay the blame on ourselves for supporting the political system and once and for all eliminate it."

CHARGE ROAD SYSTEM

Some drastic change was necessary in the road system, he continued. The present condition of the roads in the greater portion of the province he found to be deplorable from personal travel and the island highway was far from being a joy to ride on. If it was hoped to keep, retain or expand British Columbia's tourist traffic, the improvement of road surfaces was imperative, he claimed.

JAIL TERM ON OPIUM CHARGE

Ma Quong, Chinese, was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $200 when he pleaded guilty in provincial police court yesterday to having opium in his possession. He was charged by the R.C.M.P. and a default term of two months was given in case of non-payment of the fine.

Cleve G. White, defence counsel, explained his client had taken the opium because he had been troubled with asthma and entered a plea for leniency. Dr. C. Hart testified he had examined the accused since his arrest and had discovered he was troubled with asthma and would have obtained some relief from the use of opium, although this was not the remedy usually prescribed by the medical profession.

Prosecution evidence was given by Constable G. J. Hayward, who said he had found a quantity of opium on the accused at the time of his arrest, as well as nearly $70 in cash. R. A. Wootton conducted the prosecution.

Electric System Needs Improvement

Courtenay Council Hears Report of Engineer on Immediate Needs

Special to The Times
Courtenay, Nov. 22.—A report of Frank Sawford, consulting engineer, with reference to the electric system here was considered at a special meeting of the city council in camera.

Asked his opinion of immediate necessities to improve the plant he recommended that the voltage be stepped up to 4,400 volts as the system has grown far beyond the 2,300-volt stage.

The business had extended to such a wide area that the Comox and Merville lines should be brought into the transformers and served direct. The city should also be segregated into three separate parts. The most important need line that needed attention was in his opinion the Comox extension. Line losses were high, which meant loss of revenue and poor service to consumers.

The necessity of appointment of a certified engineer was discussed, and Mr. Sawford gave it as his opinion that it was the only economical way to work out new improvements to the plant, which could not be put in detail in the weekly reports.

Applications for the position received to date were gone over by the council, the mayor requesting that no decision be made at present as the position would have to be advertised, and he would like to give careful consideration to all applications in order to select the right man.

It was also agreed that more consumers must be obtained, particularly for water heaters and power consumption in off-peak periods.

Maps of the plant which Mr. Sawford had made to accompany his report were looked over, and would constitute a permanent record and would be kept up to date by adding extensions as made.

It was suggested that a by-law authorizing a capital levy of $5,000 to look after the Comox extension be considered.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND HOME INTERESTS

Man With a Thousand Masks

By Augustus Muir

"Come yesterday, sir," she replied, "and is staying in next week, they tell me." She broke off to draw Alan's attention to a piece of rustic pageantry that was passing along the country road. The local pack of foxhounds was returning to kennels after a day's cub-hunting and a long line of mounted followers was strung out behind.

They passed in groups, some laughing and talking, others grim and silent, and at the end there was the figure of a woman in a black habit that Alan's eyes fastened upon with interest. She was already falling, but there was light enough for him to recognize something familiar in the proud carriage of her head and the fair hair and clean skin.

As he spoke the woman dropped a few paces behind until she was the last in line; and as she passed the man glanced toward it and raised her hunting whip, as though answering the greeting of someone who may have been watching from one of the upper windows. And yet the gesture seemed somehow to have more than a casual significance, though its meaning did not strike Alan until afterward.

"That lady in the rear, sir," said the landlady's wife. "You'll maybe have seen her pictures in the fashionable papers. She rents a house near Sir Richard Templeton's very wealthy, they say. Mrs. Priddy is her name."

"Mrs. Priddy?" Alan could not stem an exclamation. The news had caught him completely off his guard. He had seen her pictures in the fashionable papers. She rents a house near Sir Richard Templeton's very wealthy, they say. Mrs. Priddy is her name.

"Not at all," replied Alan quickly. But he heard the name, of course. "Ah, that isn't to be surprised at," assented the woman. "They do say as Sir Richard and she may make a match of it. It was down here they got acquainted, with her taking the next house to his."

"Wonderful fine place she has, and no mistake. Always giving away parties—mostly her friends from London. The old families here being more quiet-like. Giving one to-night, she is, a fancy-dance. Do hope there ain't no trouble with any of them motor bandits. This being such a fashionable affair, they would get away with something worth while."

But Alan was not listening. To whom had Mrs. Priddy made that signal as she passed in front of the inn? He had deliberately fallen behind the others so that the gesture would not be seen by them, and she had looked towards one of the windows as if expecting to recognize somebody there.

Less than an hour later Alan received an answer. He had taken up his position in a dark corner of the little hall, where he could see anybody who passed down the stairs, and he was sipping a tumbler of ale when his eye was attracted by the figure of a man descending.

It was not until he passed under the light that Alan recognized him. But one glimpse of his face was enough. He was the man to whom he had delivered Elizabeth Marlowe's letter three nights before at the Heart's Desire Inn—the mysterious Mr. Brown.

As soon as Mr. Brown's footsteps had faded Alan hurried to the front door and saw that the man had set off at a brisk pace towards the right. What on earth was he doing at Holmdene? He wasn't here by chance—that was certain. Coincidences sometimes happen, but this was more than a coincidence.

Alan thought quickly. There was some understanding between this man and Mrs. Priddy. Her quick glance towards the inn as she had passed, and the casual raising of her hand as though in response to the greeting of a friend, had obviously been a signal of some kind. Possibly Mr. Brown had gone to meet her now.

The man was worth watching, and acting on an impulse, Alan set out in the direction he had taken.

This night sky was clear, and there was a shimmer of moonlight on the country road. Keeping on the grass verge so that his footsteps would be noiseless, Alan broke into a run, and presently caught sight of the figure of meshes of some dark web spun by the same evil hands!

What was to be done? More than once Alan had made it plain to her he was to help her. He had admitted his love for her. Yet she had dismissed him abruptly, and he had declared that they must see each other no more. It seemed as if the only thing left was to throw up the sponge—to clear right out and do his best to forget that he had ever met her!

Uncle Wiggily's Cranberry Sauce

(By HOWARD E. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggily was hiding in the bushes and weeds of the old corn field where, now, only pumpkin grew. With the rabbit gentleman was Pete, the Pumpkin Eater, who was waiting for his wife to come along so he might put her in a pumpkin shell and keep her very well.

"Do you see her?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Not yet," answered Pete. "But let's keep on looking."

Something or somebody was coming along through the field of weeds and old cornstalks. Uncle Wiggily and Pete could hear footsteps but, as yet, they could see nothing. Mr. Longears had come to get a pumpkin, so his wife and Nurse Jane could make a pie for Thanksgiving which would soon be here. It was while looking for one of the big yellow vegetables that the rabbit gentleman had met Peter the Pumpkin Eater.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was looking around the edge of a milkweed plant that had big brown seed pods dangling from it, he saw something moving toward him and Pete. Whispering to the Pumpkin Eater, Mr. Longears asked:

"Is your wife all fuzzy like a dusting brush?"

"Oh, no," Pete answered. "She is soft and smooth as I am," and, indeed, Pete was a smooth little man wearing a suit of red silk. But why did you ask if my wife was fuzzy? Pete wanted to know.

"Because I see something fuzzy like a dusting brush coming this way," said Pete. "It's a cat's paw, my wife."

So Uncle Wiggily looked again and then he jumped up and down behind the milkweed and said:

"You take your knife and I'll take my knife," said the little man dressed in red silk. "We'll scoop out one of these big pumpkins and you and I can hide in it. We'll make a pumpkin shell and when my wife comes along, as she is sure to do sooner or later, it will be all ready for me to keep her in it very well."

"Fine and dandy," said Uncle Wiggily. So he took out his knife and Pete took out his knife and while the Fox was coming nearer and nearer, sniffing and snuffing, "What shall I do with my knife, Pete?"

"You take your knife and I'll take my knife," said the little man dressed in red silk. "We'll scoop out one of these big pumpkins and you and I can hide in it. We'll make a pumpkin shell and when my wife comes along, as she is sure to do sooner or later, it will be all ready for me to keep her in it very well."

Never mind what Marie Dressler is telling Norma Shearer at the birthday party given the other day in Hollywood in honor of the famous comedienne. Just see what a cake-eater Lionel Barrymore is. If his director saw him displaying such manners in a movie scene, he'd throw seven fifts.

CHALLENGE S FACING WORLD

Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie Gives Inspirational Address to Island Baptist Conclave

Religious Home Life Has Disappeared; Young People Want Stories of Bible

"We speak of progress while church after church has gone to the wall and Sunday schools are broken up. We are going into a crisis. Will we accept the challenge or will we lie down in despair and let the other fellow do it?" queried Dr. Andrew S. Imrie, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, in speaking on "Challenge of the Crisis" at the closing session of the annual Island Baptist Convention held at Douglas St. Baptist Church yesterday evening.

Dr. Imrie, who came to Victoria recently from Calgary, gave an inspirational message to an audience of over 100, which comprised delegates from Baptist churches on various parts of Vancouver Island.

The final session of the convention opened with a supper in the church hall which was served by a committee convened by Mrs. M. H. Ward. Following the supper, greetings were received from various churches. Among those bringing good wishes were Mrs. A. J. Unsworth, First Baptist Church, Nanaimo; Gerald M. Ward, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Victoria; and Frank Waites, Emmanuel Baptist Church, Victoria. The response was made by Angus Galbraith, vice-president of the union last year, of the First Baptist Church.

NEW OFFICERS

Rev. Dr. William Russell was elected president of the Island Baptist Association for the coming year by Mrs. M. H. Ward as vice-president, Gerald M. Ward, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Wanda Beveridge as the fourth member of the executive.

After a brief song and devotional service which was conducted by F. W. MacKinnon, retiring president of the association, and Pastor Gerald M. Ward of the Emmanuel Church, Rev. Henry Knox of Vancouver gave a detailed and lengthy report on the meeting of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board held this summer in Toronto.

FOREIGN MISSIONS

It was found necessary by the board, he stated, to give the missionaries in foreign fields a salary cut of 12 1/2 per cent. This brought the wage down to $600 for a single person and $1,378 for a married person. The cost of maintaining the missions abroad last year was $80,100, for which amount it was necessary to draw nearly $42,000 from the reserve fund. The estimated expenditure in 1934 was $148,500. The reserve fund, which had been kept at a total of $217,000 for some time, had now shrunk to nearly $65,000, he said.

Dr. Imrie's address summed up the present situation in the church. He went back into the early days of church history and pointed out how crises had been presented before, but how they had always been overcome. It was up to the people to overcome this challenge to their strength.

He spoke of the days of Constantine, of Frederick the Wise of Saxony, of Martin Luther and other church notables. Great challenges had been presented to the people in the days of the Reformation, in the days of the French Revolution and in the days of Napoleon, but they had always risen to the challenge and overcome the crisis. It was necessary to do the same thing now.

HOME LIFE DISINTEGRATING

"We are going into a crisis as to our home life," he said. Disintegration has taken place in the family altar has been undermined. The boys and girls of today are not conscious of the overshadowing of God in the home.

"Boys and girls of the present generation," he declared, "want the Word. They will take it if you give it to them in the spirit in which Christ gave it to you. What are you going to do? You must go back to the treasures of the Bible itself and not recede a foot."

Reaffirming his stand that the youth of today were ready to accept the teachings of the Bible and of Jesus Christ, Dr. Imrie related many of his personal experiences both during the war at various camps and after. He concluded his address by stating that it was up to the mothers and fathers, the fathers especially, to help their children along the right path by the use of kind words.

Conservatives and Liberals In Same Camp Says Telford

Vancouver Leader of C.C.F., in Addressing Two Large Meetings Here, Predicts Failure For Pattullo's Plan

Party Has Only to Win 15,000 Votes to Add to 90,000 Obtained on Nov. 2 to Win Next General Election in Province, Telford Says

Dr. Lyle Telford, C.C.F. leader in Vancouver and radio speaker, was the feature of the C.C.F. campaign demonstration here yesterday evening and was heard by more than 1,500 persons in two downtown meetings in the Chamber of Commerce and in the Sons of England Hall.

The 90,000 votes the C.C.F. candidates received on November 2 meant that with only 15,000 more votes they could win all the seats in British Columbia, Dr. Telford said. He declared this was remarkable as the C.C.F. movement here had been under way only a few months and was carried on without the large campaign funds possessed by the other old-line parties.

He declared that the Conservative Party was out of business for good as far as provincial affairs were concerned in B.C.

"We have put both the Liberals and Conservatives into one camp and now we won't have to waste ammunition between two camps," he said. "We will never have a Conservative Party again. You may have a reactionary movement, or a nationalist or unionist movement, but it will only represent capitalism on the defensive."

He predicted Premier Pattullo would not be able to carry out his work and that the C.C.F. did not advocate leaving scrip, and had been purposely misrepresented in this regard.

QUESTION SECURITY

"Mr. Hart tells you about the unholy mess you are in as regards the finances of the government," Dr. Telford went on. "The teachers now find that their superannuation funds have been raided under Mr. Jones. When the people who loan money to the government find out that the security offered them is very good."

"Mr. Hart is now saying the same thing about Mr. Jones as Mr. Jones said about Mr. Hart when Mr. Jones took office," Dr. Telford went on. "The important thing is that they are all equally guilty, as they are attempting to do something that can't be done and you will find that out in a few months."

"But you are to blame yourselves," he said. "You are the ones who are responsible for the situation. Many people would elect Mr. Hart now and he should be disappointed according to what Mr. Jones says."

Dr. Telford asserted that at the Liberal meeting in the Hotel Vancouver last Friday evening, at which the Premier and the members of his cabinet appeared, there was a side room well filled with booze.

"It is a tragic thing to think that we have to have our government run by men who carry on in this way," he said. "They are going to govern our province efficiently you are wrong. They had lots of booze around the Hotel Vancouver last Friday night. I think it is despicable and it does not do us any good."

Dealing with the election charges that the C.C.F. was out to confiscate everybody's property, Dr. Telford declared that the C.C.F. was not out to confiscate anybody's property. He said that the C.C.F. was not out to confiscate anybody's property. He said that the C.C.F. was not out to confiscate anybody's property.

LOVELY WOMEN

Why not make your teeth like theirs—whiter, more beautiful?

Among the more than two million women who have changed to Listerine Tooth Paste from other brands are many professional beauticians.

These girls find that Listerine Tooth Paste makes their teeth look whiter, gives them a brilliant lustre not obtainable from old-type dentifrices.

Listerine Tooth Paste has proved again and again that it does "bring out" the naturally beautiful lustre of tooth enamel. It works wonders even with teeth that seem to be "off color."

A special polishing ingredient... far softer than enamel... perfectly safe... removes the dingy film-coats with but little brushing. Stains yield to it with surprising speed.

There is a refreshing mouth effect from using Listerine Tooth Paste which also accounts for the favor it finds. You are conscious of a sweet, pure breath after using. Gums seem firmer and healthier.

helpless to carry out his platform of "work and wages." As for Mr. Pattullo's declaration for using the national credit in this emergency as in war, he said the difference was that there was profit in death but there was no profit in keeping surplus, unemployed workers alive under the capitalist system.

"The C.C.F. comes to you with the proposal that you look to the future," he went on. "Our young men are coming out of schools with nothing for them to do. We say you should cut through the old traditions and ideas. We have the machines, the food and the raw material and we say you have to bring these together."

LOWER STANDARD OF LIVING

W. B. Caird was the second of the local candidates to speak. "Suppose Premier Pattullo did get his loan from Ottawa, what would be the result?" Mr. Caird asked. "It would simply mean a larger debt to this province would have to meet. Such a loan would merely be a temporary expedient."

"B.C. is likely to be like Newfoundland in the near future, with the franchise taken away from the people as yesterday's royal commission recommended for Newfoundland," the speaker said.

"The C.C.F. proposes to move forward, recognize things as they are and proceed in accordance with them. The C.C.F. proposes to put into effect a system of planned production, with the idle man power put to work on the natural resources of the country and on all the machines that are lying idle. The principle of the Liberal Party is to continue the present system."

"TERRIBLE TRAGEDY"

"It is a terrible tragedy, here we are in 1933 with that old travesty of party politics just a sham," said Guy Sheppard.

Mr. Sheppard declared Mr. Pattullo was not going the right way about his work and wages programme, as the first thing he did was to leave his "barrow" at home. Then after some "gerrymandering" he took somewhat "spontaneously" to look him over to the Parliament Buildings with him.

"November 23 you can help to make an opposition in this House such

Mail Orders Now Being Received For Local Production
at Royal Next Week

The picturesque courtyard in the garden of Ko Ko's official residence in the town of Titipu, in old Japan, will form the setting for Gilbert and Sullivan's famous comic opera, "The Mikado," which will be presented by the Victoria Operatic Society at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings, December 1 and 2.

Ko Ko, as everyone who loves Gilbert and Sullivan knows full well, is the Lord High Executioner of Titipu.

The setting promises to be full of color, and with the large cast in true Japanese costume the opera will no doubt live up to the reputation which the Victoria Operatic Society has established during the last few years.

Honorary patrons of "The Mikado" are Premier and Mrs. T. D. Pittullo, Dr.
S. F. Toulme and Mrs. Leonard
Andrews, Mayor and Mrs. David Leonard,
Mr. and Mrs. Frank and Lady Barnard,

Musical Shows
To Be Filmed

New York, Nov. 23.—As it was in the beginning, New York is becoming a busy centre for the making of movies, and the studios in outlying boroughs are being swept out in preparation for the filming of Broadway hits. Instead of waiting for Broadway plays to end, thus releasing their casts for excursions to Hollywood, film producers are setting up their cameras here and pouncing on prizes as they come along.

"Sailor Beware!" "Double Door," "Men in White," "Ab, Wilderness!" and "Her Master's Voice" are a few of the rich saucy comedies, each bringing in the neighborhood of $65,000 for picture rights.

Import Turnover
Tax to Be Ended

Associated Press

Paris, Nov. 23. Removal of the import turnover tax on both British and United States goods was made probable to-day after the foreign affairs committee of the Chamber of Deputies had approved a government bill. The measure would authorize lifting of the tax.

This tax, which places a tariff of 2 per cent on value of raw materials, 4 per cent on semi-finished products, and 6 per cent on finished products, was considered discriminatory against British and United States products.

The bill would permit the tax to be removed by decree.

WIDOW AWARDED $2,500

Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 23 (Canadian Press)—The estate of the late George Bailey of Magrath, Alta., to-day had been awarded $2,500 damages in its suit against the Oak Hospital here as a result of the death of Bailey following an elevator accident.

The jury had recommended payment of $25 to the widow for life, but Chief Justice W. C. Simmons insisted on a set sum.

SAANICH RELIEF

ning shoes; no socks, and a large percentage without underwear.

Of course, according to Revere Crouch, no one is starving, but I wonder how the good reeve, however feeble his appetite, could manage on $3.75 a week, or better still, could he be eight days' menu as follows:

Breakfast—Toast and tea (often without butter and sugar).
Lunch—Baked potato sandwiches.
Supper—Potatoes, carrots, occasionally stewing meat.

We know some will say "pretty good,"
considering the times, but believe me,
it certainly gets a little monotonous,
day in and day out.

And when one considers that the total monthly money for a man, wife and two children is $16.74, a deft anyone, after paying light, etc., to do better.

Taking for granted the parents' sacrifices for the sake of the children getting the bit, there is nothing left to sustain the children in their education.
And we are asked to produce good and honest and healthy citizens for the future of Canada.

The Bible tells us not to be covetous, but we in Saanich sure cast longing eyes on the amount paid in Victoria, and if Mr. Crouch and company of

WHAT THEY APPROVE OF

To the Editor:—During the broadcast on Monday evening, I among many others, was shocked to hear the statement made by the Hon. Mr. Crouch, respecting the connection with British Columbia finances. It is not my purpose to review same, but the question of the last Conservative government, using in my opinion unlawfully the Teachers' Pension Fund, Civil Service Superan-uation Fund, Unemployment Relief Funds, for general purposes, is a breach of faith that cannot, or should not, be allowed again. Well, the milk is gone, and the baby is crying (the electorate), therefore we must see that no man who was responsible for such affairs should remain in public life. However, some people will not quit, and that brings me to the point of stating that in Victoria we have (four) men, Conservatives who are supporting or were responsible for such conditions. In brief they are as follows: General Brown, Colonel Goodland and P. O. Crowhurst.

These gentlemen support the late government. The Canon will provide over them again this week. And the fourth man, our own Reginald Hayward, late senior Conservative member for Victoria, chairman of the municipal committee in the House, while all this was going on, also chairman of the Legislature when the Election Act was being attended to and giving the casting vote against the wish of the returned men of this province. I would refer you to the results and proceedings of that session.

For five sessions Mr. Hayward voted with the government on all divisions, and not once did he raise his disapproval. In British public life men resign. In Victoria we must vote them out. In closing I would suggest that after such startling disclosures there is still time for Hayward, Brown, Goodland and Crowhurst to resign.

MARY ASTOR
AT DOMINION

Plays Opposite Wm. Powell in Mystery Story, "The Kennel Murder Case"

"The Kennel Murder Case," a Warner Bros. picture, brings William Powell back to the screen of the Dominion Theatre to-day as Pink Vance, the famous detective character created by
S. S. Van Dine.

Powell made some of his first great screen successes in the role of this character, playing the part in "The Bishop Murder Case," "The Canary Murder Case" and "The Benson Murder Case." "The Kennel Murder Case" is considered the most baffling and thrilling picture of all the S. S. Van Dine stories in which Powell has starred.

The action is swift moving, starting with the murder of a prize Scottie and involving the slaying of two men and the attempted murder of a third.
Mystery plus on mystery as Philo Vance unravels the crimes in which seven suspects have both the opportunity and the motive for the killings.

Playing in support of Powell, are Mary Astor as his leading lady, Eugene Pallette as Sergeant Heath, a part which he has played with Powell in the previous Van Dine picture, Ralph Moran, Helen Vinson, Jack La Rue,
Paul Cavanaugh, Robert Barrat, Arthur Hoel.

Consistency? To the Editor:—One wonders if Dr. Clem Davies who is now offering himself as an independent candidate for the voters of Victoria, to represent them in the provincial parliament is the same Dr. Davies who in 1928 allowed his name to go before a Liberal nominating convention, while choosing four Liberal candidates for the city, but did not make the grade.

The Dr. Davies of 1928 in that year at various places spoke on behalf of Liberal candidates, the writer recalls hearing him on two occasions, once at Cobble Hill, where he eloquently propounded to all and sundry the virtues of Liberalism and the advisability of keeping them in office. But the people at that time said that the Liberals were all right, but they wanted a change and they got it. After that the Liberals held a watching brief in His Majesty's Loyal Opposition where they have had ample opportunities to benefit by the mistakes made by the party in power, and to reflect on any mistakes made by themselves during their twelve years in office so that these mistakes may not be repeated in the future.

Taking the above into consideration and if the Liberals were really so good, in 1928—and they must have been for Dr. Davies said they were—just what is wrong with them in 1933? Mr.
Editor, can it be that since it was not made possible for Dr. Clem Davies to sail in the Liberal ship that he has built himself a sea submarine which carries a considerable cargo of poisonous gas. "Oh, brotherly love where art thou now? Consistency thou art a jewel!"

However, those who do their own thinking if they are fair-minded will admit that the Liberal record in the past was something to be proud of and for the future we may trust our Leader and his followers to do everything that is humanly possible to bring back better conditions. Not for one class or group of people. But for all the people. Hard though their task may be. And perhaps who knows but what Dr. Clem Davies and even Fat Rainton will join in the chorus of "happy times are here again?"

Cobble Hill, Nov. 21.

Mary Pickford
At Columbia

Is one of the screen idols of tomorrow playing a role in Mary Pickford's "Secrets" at the Columbia?
Hollywood experts think so. Lynn Williams, handsome nineteen-year-old blonde, makes his debut in support of the star, appearing in important sequences with Miss Pickford and her leading man, Leslie Howard.

Binnie Barnes, an English beauty with red gold hair and creamy skin, once headed for Hollywood with a contract. At the ship she was met by a publicity man who handed her an assurance of letters that had been awaiting her arrival.

She selected one of them to read first—read it, burst into tears and engaged a return passage. She didn't want to travel another 3,000 miles in the opposite direction from her husband.

However, the screen career of the beautiful Binnie has progressed nicely on her native soil. She is seen playing the role of Kathryn Howard opposite Charles Laughton in "The Private Life of Henry VIII," a United Artists release showing Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

Sherlock Holmes is back in town again on the screen, of course, in "The Empire Theatre. And Dr. Watson, faithful as always, is right at his side, ever ready with his "Marvelous Holmes, marvellous." "The Missing Rembrandt" is unique among Sherlock Holmes adventures, for it depicts the first of Holmes' invasions into modern gang-land.

BRAZIL ABOLISHES GOLD OLDERS

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 23. — Brazil abolished the gold milreis yesterday by a government decree, substituting the tariff and other receipts previously collected on a theoretical gold basis.

The action was understood to be a preliminary to the abolition of gold clauses in contracts of foreign utilities companies.

Taxes have been payable in gold, but henceforth will be calculated on a basis of eight paper milreis to one gold milreis. This means a tariff increase, since the gold milreis has been computed as worth 6.2 paper units.

NO PERMANENT WORK POSSIBLE

City Cannot Undertake Big Relief Project Under Present Plan, Says Mayor

Gives Rotarians Insight Into City's Financial Condition at Luncheon

Under the present scheme of relief whereby the provincial and federal governments each contribute one-third of the labor costs, it would be impossible for the city to undertake any strictly permanent works projects without increasing relief costs to the city by more than 300 per cent., Mayor Leeming to-day told members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon.

The mayor said there had been considerable criticism of the City Council for not having some large project undertaken by the relief workers. This could not be done, he stated, because the government would not contribute a cent towards material or supervision.

As an example, with a permanent work of $100,000, not less than fifty per cent., or $50,000, would have to be paid in material and supervision, while the remainder would go for labor. The governments between them would pay two-thirds of the labor cost, while the city would have to pay all material costs in addition to $10,000 for labor, or a total of $60,000.

The mayor also contradicted a general belief that the city is getting no returns for the relief work or the money expended on relief.

"This is incorrect," he said. "It should be remembered that the city receives its relief, with a payment of 65 per cent. for work and 35 per cent. in payment for shelter, fuel and water, the latter amount being controlled by the city."

Under this plan the city figures on a return of sixty-five cents on every dollar spent on relief.

There had also been an opinion expressed that the city is getting no return for the relief work. The mayor said that the city is getting a return of sixty-five cents on every dollar spent on relief.

PLEA TO PUT GRANTS BACK

Among First Applications Received For Proposed New Department

Victoria Real Estate Board Sends Appeal to Hon. A. Wells Gray

An appeal for a restoration of grants to municipalities to relieve the tax burden on land is among the first recommendations to come before Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of the Department of Municipalities.

Legislation for the creation of the department will be brought before the first session of the new Legislature.

The appeal was sent by the Victoria Real Estate Board of Victoria and accompanied by a letter congratulating the new minister on being selected for the post.

The curtailment of the grants, the minister was told, had increased the burden on land within the municipalities, with consequent reverses of property hitherto able to pay taxes. Extra taxation had been necessary because of the burden of unemployment relief, it was pointed out, and this was accentuated by the withdrawal of the grants.

The board also protested against the provincial expenditure which had resulted in increasing the debt of the province and curtailment of municipal services.

Other recommendations for the proposed new department have been received by Mr. Gray and many congratulations have also been sent to him. A complimentary letter is being extended to him in New Westminster by the New Westminster Liberal Association to which an open invitation to citizens of his home town has been extended.

ARREST THREE IN STOLEN CAR

Provincial Police at Nelson Apprehend Trio in Kamloops Automobile

A radiogram received at Provincial Police headquarters here to-day announced the arrest of three men in Nelson in possession of a stolen car, firearms and a number of fuses and caps.

The arrest was effected following a Kamloops report that a car had been stolen from that city. Nelson police were notified and arrested Steve Skogryn, alias Bud Anderson, Fred Jones and Harry Landick.

When taken into custody it was discovered Landick was in possession of a gun while Skogryn carried a knife. A quantity of fuses and caps was found in the car.

It is expected a charge will be laid against the trio for possession of the stolen car while Landick may also face a count of being in possession of a concealed weapon.

The suit of the Royal Bank of Canada against James Cameron, a client, arising out of the discounting of a bill of exchange for $1,750 and later reduced to $1,550, commenced to-day before Mr. Justice Harold B. Robertson of the Supreme Court here.

A. D. Cameron, counsel for the bank, called as witness Gerald Hall Taylor, Vancouver, who had been manager of the Port Street branch of the Royal Bank here when the transactions took place, and Leonard George Calder. Mr. Taylor testified the note was made by C. W. Barker and discounted by Mr. Cameron. Mr. Taylor also testified he had given Mr. Cameron no advice and denied that he had ever promulgated the idea that the government of Japan had anything to do with a logging company with which it was proposed to do business.

Under cross-examination by C. L. Harrison, counsel for the defence, Mr. Taylor admitted he had been in discussions leading to the proposed formation with a lawyer, Stanley Helmcken, of a United Timber Company to take over some Salt Spring Island property.

At the close of the morning session, Mr. Harrison called Dr. F. M. Bryant to the stand.

The trial is continuing.

DEATH FOUND ACCIDENTAL

No Blame Attached to Car Driver For Fatality on Quadra Street

Coroner Comments Person Takes a Chance When Crossing Street These Days

A desperate swerve by Robert Graham, 3223 Milgrove Street, just failed to avoid the accident on Quadra Street which ended fatally for Mrs. C. H. Haverstock, 415 Linden Avenue, Sunday night. It was revealed at the coroner's inquest at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home this morning, when a verdict of accidental death was returned.

"I jammed on my brakes and swung hard to the left when I saw the two people just in front of my car," Mr. Graham told the jury. "I did not feel any impact, but apparently they were hit as the car swung. I thought it was the man that was hit."

The man referred to was J. H. Tabor, 136 Beechwood Avenue, who was helping Mrs. Haverstock across the road to his car to drive her home after attending the First Baptist Church service. Mr. Graham, with Frank White, had just come from the City Temple service.

Mr. Tabor testified he had taken Mrs. Haverstock's right arm to guide her over the street after looking in both directions to assure himself there were no cars coming.

As he did not see the car himself and realized nothing after he heard Mrs. Haverstock exclaim "Oh, my," and felt an impact. He thought the car struck Mrs. Haverstock first. He was dazed and afterwards got up from almost underneath a car which had come from the opposite direction and stopped.

This other car was driven by Alfred Dash, who stated he was proceeding up the slight incline from Pandora Avenue when suddenly Graham's car swerved over in front of him. He stopped right up against it and may have touched a fender, then noticed Mr. Tabor crawling out from the front of his machine. He then noticed Mrs. Haverstock lying unconscious in the roadway.

Both Mr. White and Mr. Graham testified their car was traveling slowly and had stopped within a short distance. There was a hand windshield wiper on the car which was operated frequently to clear the vision.

Measurements at the scene were given by Constable A. Phillips, who was on duty at Pandora Avenue and Quadra Streets and heard a woman's scream as the accident happened. He stated the visibility was poor owing to the rain and the roadway dark at the time the mishap occurred.

Picked up from the road, Mrs. Haverstock was lying thirteen feet nine inches from the west curb of Quadra Street, twenty-two feet south of Mason Street, he said.

Dr. P. M. Bryant, the attending physician, said Mrs. Haverstock died from severe brain injuries. The X-ray showed no gross evidence of skull fracture, but he said there was probably a basal skull fracture.

George K. Haverstock gave identifying evidence, stating his mother was seventy-two years of age.

In summing up the evidence, Coroner E. C. Hart commented that in present day motor traffic no one could cross the road without taking a certain chance and the element of danger was increased in rainy weather.

JOHN NIXON IS CALLED TO REST

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Upsets Are Likely To Be Frequent in National Hockey

Game Has Made Sensational Stride in Canada and U.S.

New York Ranger's Trio Outlast Many Other Champions

UNLESS all signs fail, this year will provide some very startling upsets in the National Hockey League, for while anyone, the first bombshell exploded Tuesday evening when Montreal Maroons announced they had placed five players on the block. This action followed the 5 to 0 shellacking the Maroons suffered at the hands of the Canadiens. In Canada, the Maroons have been handicapped by a woefully weak defence. Maybe they shouldn't have let Lionel Conacher go after all. New York Americans, with two more red-headed players added to their pack, already give evidence of a lot more pep. Chicago Black Hawks have developed a lot more aggressiveness. Ottawa should be in the thick of the fight even though the club appears to be in a slump right now. Canadiens should be a better club than last season. Detroit Red Wings have shown great strength while Toronto looks like the team to beat for the championship. And the New York Rangers will have to pepper up if they expect to go places. It is going to be hard on the forecasters for awhile until the teams get into their stride.

When the game of hockey was developed and introduced in Canada in 1879, originators of the game had no vision of the popularity the sport would gain. Since then professional hockey has developed into a commercialized business ranking with professional baseball as the best paying of the sports. Organized hockey is in its forty-sixth year with the rosiest prospects in history. These possibilities were forecast in last year's Stanley Cup final between the New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs, when fans flocked through the turnstiles despite the depression.

This season the N.H.L. magnates made efforts to strengthen the outfit in an attempt to bring about a closer race and a stirring finish. This procedure is similar to that done in baseball the last few years, especially in the American league, where attempts were made to bring other teams on a par with the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics. Hockey has progressed rapidly since its introduction in the United States a decade ago. In 1929 more than 2,000,000 people paid to see professional hockey games in Canada and the United States. Last year it is estimated more than twice that number paid their money to see the boys perform.

The late Tex Rickard, on witnessing his first pro hockey game, expressed the real reason why the game is succeeding. "You get plenty of action for your money all the time. That's what people pay for, action. Wouldn't surprise me to see this game get a big play in the United States." Rickard's prediction has come true. Five American teams now play in the N.H.L. in addition to the Montreal Canadiens, Canadian-American, International, California and several small leagues in Tulsa and Oklahoma.

In speaking about hockey it is interesting to note that the Rangers' great forward trio of Bun and Bill Cook and Frank Boucher have won its eighth straight season together. Bill Tilden was the supreme ruler of the tennis courts when these three hockey stars started playing for New York. Bobby Jones was taking a firm grip on the big prize in the realm of golf. Gene Tunney had just whipped Jack Dempsey on a rainy night in Philadelphia. Rogers Hornsby had won a world baseball championship from the New York Yankees and Grover Cleveland Alexander was the pitching hero. Pavlo Nurmi was still the "Phantom Finn" of theinder track.

Tilden fell from the tennis peak some years ago. Alexander wandered out into the tall timber and grew a beard with the House of David. Nurmi has fallen far behind in the race. Schmeling, Sharkey and Corera have been heavyweight champions in turn. The ball teams of 1926 are, for the most part, dim memories. They have been shuffled, broken up and rebuilt several times since then.

COLLEGE BEATS VICTORIA HIGH

K. Luttrell's lone try, scored on a forward pass, gave Victoria College a 3 to 0 decision over Victoria High School in the first rugby match between the two institutions played this year.

The older students were hard pressed to overcome their more youthful rivals and failed to show up to defend the backfields, owing to lack of good combination.

College—Ferguson, Parquhar, Hall, Cox, McCaffrey, Taylor, McLaughlin, Mayhew, Oler, G. Andrews, Pearce, Lindsay, Luttrell, Vetch and Maloney. High School—Rowland, Moffatt, Ross, Field, McDonald, Langdon, Winsay, Ferguson, Mason, Simpson, Shepherd, Gaunt, Kirkbride, P. Andrews and Painter.

Pairs With LePage To Take Honors On Minneapolis Track

Large Margin in Points Gives Canadians Win Over Audy and Van Kempen

THIRD VICTORY AT THAT CITY

Lew Rush, Victoria, and MacDonald in Fifth Position; Seven Teams Finish

Minneapolis, Nov. 23.—The Canadian bike team with the perfect balance, Torchy Peden, Victoria, B.C., and Henri LePage, Toronto, won the international six-day grind here yesterday evening with the amazing total of 1,370 sprint points, and a distance of 2,558 miles, nine laps.

The victory gave Peden a perfect record for his races at Minneapolis. The big red-head from the Pacific Coast has engaged in three races in this city and has scored a victory in each one. In November, 1931, he paired with Jules Audy, Montreal, to score his first victory here, and in November of the following year the same pair carried off the first money.

Yesterday evening's win marked the seventeenth six-day race success for Peden since October of 1929. Torchy, with every win, is creeping closer to the world record for six-day races at present retained by Piet Van Kempen, Holland.

AUDY-KEMPEN SECOND
Canada also shared in second money when blond little Jules Audy of Montreal and his partner, Van Kempen, landed that "spot" with the same mileage as the winners but only 681 points. Horn and Zach, with eight laps were third with 1,137 points, followed by the American team of Beckman-Winter, also with eight laps, but with 1,041 points.

Present retained by Piet Van Kempen. Audy were the favorites among the thirteen teams entered in the race. Only seven teams finished the 2,400 miles, the sixth pair, Boogman-Van Slambrouck, dropped out at the 16th hour yesterday evening.

FINAL STANDING
The final standing of the teams follows:

	Miles	Laps	Pts.
Peden-LePage	2,558	9	1,370

Two Football Men Let Off

At yesterday evening's meeting of the Lower Island Football Association, two players of the Saanich Thistles, Joe Crooks and Sammy Essler, were up on the carpet as the result of their having been reported by Referee Dave Swan for ungentlemanly conduct following last Saturday's match between the Thistles and Victoria West. Although members of the L.I.F.A. continued to remain silent regarding action taken in dealing with players, it was learned to-day that both men were let off, owing to the lack of evidence to substantiate the charges against them.

ALL-STAR GRID TEAMS CHOSEN

Interprovincial Union Players Dominate All-eastern First Line-up

Huck Welch, Jack Taylor and Carl Perina Are Unanimous Selections

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Swept into power by an avalanche of ballots from all sections of the battlefield, the Canadian Press' all-eastern football team for 1933 is a triumph for the Big Four, particularly for the still-dedicated champions to the title, Montreal Wheelers and Toronto Argonauts.

In the opinion of coaches and sports writers whose selections were tabulated by the Canadian Press, to be an all-star in the Interprovincial Union is to rate all-eastern ranking. Only Don Young, captain and flying wing of McGill's intercollegiate team, was able to put a dent in the Big Four monopoly.

Selectors made it plain in every other case that they regarded interprovincial stars as the outstanding men in their positions over the best in the Intercollegiate and O.R.P.U. They gave nine of the twelve places on the second team to players in the other divisions, Sarnia Imperials filling three berths.

WELCH IS POPULAR
Selectors were far from being unanimous in most cases. Huck Welch, Montreal's kicking-half, and Jack Taylor, the most consistent running back-fielder of the season, were elected by big majorities. Welch securing fourteen first-team votes and the Argonaut's Taylor, 13.

Jack Sinclair, whose great all-round display against Queen's last Saturday won the Intercollegiate championship for Toronto, made the second team half line along with veteran Norman Perry, Sarnia's sensational ball-toter.

There was no difficulty putting Carl Perina at quarter, the Montrealer winning twenty votes, but it was a close thing between Hayes and Steward of the Western Mustangs for the second team.

It was even closer between John Kastuk of Queen's and Johnny Metras of St. Michael's College for the second snap job.

Young, Newton and Jolka were the only 1932 all-eastern players to be returned to the first team.

The all-star teams follow:
First team—Don Young, McGill; Jack Welch, Montreal; Jack Taylor, Argos; Ed Elowitz, Ottawa; Alex Hayes, Sarnia; John Metras, St. Michael's; Joe Veroni, Western; John Baker, Sarnia; Abe Zvonkin, Queen's; Dave Sprague, Ottawa; Andy Henderson, Toronto; and Syd Reynolds, Balmy Beach.

Second team—Bud Andrew, Ottawa; Norm Perry, Sarnia; Jack Sinclair, Toronto; Al Elowitz, Ottawa; Alex Hayes, Sarnia; John Metras, St. Michael's; Joe Veroni, Western; John Baker, Sarnia; Abe Zvonkin, Queen's; Dave Sprague, Ottawa; Andy Henderson, Toronto; and Syd Reynolds, Balmy Beach.

Manitoba Amateur Boxers Whip Invading U.S. Stars
Two thousand fans watched the tournament of champions, six of the seven Minnesota boxers being either golden glove or diamond belt champions, while two of the Manitoba squad are Canadian titleholders and two others were Manitoba crown.

Starting upset of the evening was the defeat of Walter Petr, United States national welterweight champion, who bowed to Maurice Camyree, runner-up to the Dominion title this year.

The Manitoba squad won the welterweight, lightweight, flyweight and light heavyweight matches, while the Minnesotans took the middleweight, featherweight and bantamweight struggles.

BABE RUTH OFFERED JOB OF MANAGING NEWARK CLUB

Newark, N.J., Nov. 23.—The News said in its columns to-day that Babe Ruth has been offered the job of managing the Newark Bears of the International Baseball League and there is a "fifty-fifty chance he will accept."

The News said it had received its information from a "source very close to the internal affairs of the American League."

The paper added that back of the move to have the great slugger of the New York Yankees take the post made vacant by the release of Al Mamaux "is a desire in the Yankee organization to have Ruth as manager of the New York American League club after he had demonstrated his managerial ability elsewhere."

New Diving Club Planned In City

Move Launched to Group Together All Springboard Performers of Victoria

Formation of a new diving club in the city, which would include springboard performers of all swimming groups in Victoria, was being considered to-day by those prominent in the sport here.

The idea of the new organization, which is expected, will swing into action in the near future, will be to promote the sport of diving in the city and not have it restricted to those clubs which have competent coaches in that department of aquatic.

The Highgate Diving Club of London would be taken as a model for the new group here and efforts would be made to keep local divers posted on new regulations and the theoretical side of the sport as well as to give them practical coaching in the game.

When broached to leaders of the different clubs in the city the suggestion was accorded warm receptions. At present those taking an interest in the sport carry on individually to the best of their abilities, but the advantages of group work are lacking and the valuable experience of team diving is lost.

WOULD GIVE ASSISTANCE
It is expected that in addition to those engaged in the sport at present, former divers, now out of the competitive ranks would lend their assistance to younger boys coming along.

When the club is sufficiently strong, restrictions would be placed on membership, permitting only those of a higher calibre to perform under its standards. That would lend an incentive to younger aspirants to improve their standard of performance in order to qualify for membership.

While actual organization has not yet been undertaken, it is expected that such well-known performers and authorities as Archie McKinnon, of the Y.M.C.A.; Ernie Peden, of the Pacific Swimming Club; Kevin McPadden, of the V.A.B.C.; and other men with experience in diving or in coaching the sport would form the nucleus of an executive for the group.

In the active lists would be Peden, Ken Billingsley, Phil Bond, Art Storti and probably Jack Bryden and a crop of juniors who have been showing promise.

The new organization would in no way interfere with the allegiance of the various members to their respective swimming clubs. It would simply be a means of affording greater advantages to those in the sport for improving their performance.

Lake Hill Cagers Spring Upset Win Over Colonist Five

Hand Newspaper Squad First Defeat 29 to 26 After Over-time Period

Averts in Rally To Hold Record

Remain Undeleted in Women's Section; Blue Ribbons Trim Slingers

Lake Hill senior B men pulled one of the surprises that feature every basketball campaign, when they turned back the crack Colonist team, 29 to 26, after five minutes of extra play at the Victoria High School gym yesterday evening. The Colonist were seeking their fifth consecutive win, but the suburbanites played inspired basketball, to set the Newsies back on their heels. In the other two games the Adverts downed Dad's Cookies, 21 to 15, in the women's senior B division, after a great fight, and the Blue Ribbons won handily from Slingers, 42 to 26, in the men's senior A section. Lake Hill took an early lead in their game against the Colonist, and at the rest interval were ahead 11 to 5. With the start of the second half the Colonist staged a scoring rally and, with five minutes left to play, came within two points of their opponents total at 20 to 18.

DEADLOCKS SCORE
McKeachie got through to score the tying basket at 20 to 20. Lake Hill moved four points up on baskets by Walker and McMurchie, but Stipe and Scott deadlocked matters again to send the game into overtime. Two baskets by Walker and a free throw by Cunningham gave Lake Hill the winning points. The final two points for the Colonist were secured by Stipe. Walker was the hero of the Lake Hill win, collecting eight points, all at critical stages of the encounter, while Stipe was the leading Colonist star, with ten points.
After having held the crack Adverts team to a 15 to 13 score at three-quarter time, Dad's Cookies slumped to let the underdog leaders score six points in the final eight minutes of play without a return. Mary Feden was the big noise in her team's win, as her fourteen points gave her the scoring honors easily.
Slingers played nice basketball against the Blue Ribbons, and, after holding the score to 19 to 10 in the first half, they made a gallant stand in the final twenty minutes. Although defeated 42 to 26 the game was very interesting in spots, with both teams playing nice ball. Doug Feden and Art Chapman were the leading scorers, the former getting twelve and Chapman eleven.
Tommy Macdonald refereed all games. The teams and individual scores follow:
Colonist—Scott (6), McKeachie (2).

SPRINT STAR IS DESTROYED

Quickaway, Owned By J. D. Spreckels III, Breaks Leg at Tanforan

Finishes Third in Feature Race; Prevue and Judge Urban Pay Well

San Bruno, Cal., Nov. 23.—Quickaway, good-selling pacer owned by J. D. Spreckels III, broke a leg and was destroyed after finishing third in yesterday's feature race at Tanforan track.

Win Places Portland in First Place Tie; Calgary Meets Seattle To-night
Portland, Ore., Nov. 23.—Portland and Buckaroos, hitherto an unknown quantity in the Northwest Professional Hockey League, today were sitting at the top of the standings, tied with Calgary and Seattle.
Yesterday evening Bobby Rowe's proteges opened the new circuit's schedule here with a 5 to 2 victory over Edmonton Eskimos.

Garrison Cinches Hayward Trophy In Wednesday Soccer

Scores Eighth Successive Victory Yesterday Against James Bay Liberals

NAVY, SPENCERS OTHER VICTORS

Former Turns Back Hudson's Bay 3 to 0 to Take Second Place in Standings

When they ran their string of victories up to eight in a row with a 3 to 1 win over the James Bay Liberals at Work Point Barracks yesterday, Sergeant-Major Mitchell's classy Garrison squad took a strange hold on the Hayward Cup, prized trophy in the Wednesday Football League.
At Heywood Avenue, the Navy put the skills under the Hudson's Bay to gain a 3 to 0 decision, which boosted them into second place in the standings. Spencers drubbed the Macabees 5 to 1 at Beacon Hill to equalize their number of victories and defeats at four all.

By taking their game yesterday the Garrison boys piled up such a lead the other teams in the loop have no chance of catching them in the present series.
Dick Miller opened the Garrison scoring when the first half was still in its infancy, beating Bourne with a hard drive from close range. Stan Richard added another counter a few minutes later with a fine shot. Before the interval Miller scored again on a pass from Edwards. The Liberals made several spirited sorties but could not break through.

James Bay players gained their lone marker shortly after the resumption of play, when the ball was pushed into the net in a miscalculation.
Jimmy Worwick offset the counter before the last half was very old, and Edwards netted the final goal to bring the score to 5 to 1.
Ground conditions caused the soccer to become ragged on occasions, and a slippery ball made kicking difficult. Alook referred and teams followed: Spencers—Glendinning, Burgess, Burston, Wilkinson, Dyer, Edwards, Cook, Richard, Miller, Worwick and McAllister.
James Bay Liberals—Bourne, Eastwood, Bedford, A. McBride, Mercer, Thame, Obbe, Davidson, Crawford, Rice and McBride.

Showing a slight superiority in combination, the Navy hung up a 3 to 0 decision over the Hudson's Bay in a game which presented plenty of keen play.
When the evenly fought first half was well advanced, Bennellack drew Baxter from the storemen's net to register the opening tally for the sailors.
Bentley was carried from the field before the interval with a twisted knee and the departmentals were forced to carry on a man short.
Edwards drove in a fast shot on a pass from Koutskid during the second half, and Hibbert gained a lucky tally later on.

Blah made several gallant efforts to score for the Bays but could not quite control his attacks.
Good defence work by the Bays prevented the sailors from scoring on numerous attacks.
Woody handled the game.
The teams follow:
Navy—Mundie, Tapley, Dovey, McNamara, De Costa, Hibbert, Marr, Bennellack, Koutskid and Walker.
Hudson's Bay—Baxter, Nicol, O'Connell, Cullen, McKinnon, Fairall, Fish, McKennie, Stevens and Bentley.

The Macabees, with a weakened team, were clearly outclassed in their battle with Spencers at Beacon Hill.
Early in the first canto the store squad gained its first counter on a nice combination attack which ended with Luxton driving a smart shot into the net.
Shortly after, Bissell got his head to a nice attempt by Chapman and sent the ball in after the Macabees' custodian had been drawn out.

Lack of strength in front of the goal spoiled several determined efforts by the lodgement before Ernie Roberts registered their single counter.
Play seemed from one end to the other as the teams returned with added energy in the second half. Five minutes after the interval, Bissell worked through the Macabees' defence and passed to Luxton, who sent in his second scoring shot of the fray.
The lodgement nearly scored on a nice attempt by Hill, but McMillan picked the ball out of the air before it slipped under the bar.
Bissell netted his second counter well through the half and Wilson shot in through the end of the scoring near the end.
McKinnon referred, and the teams follow:
Spencers—McMillan, Cann, Munro, Chapman, L. Bradley, D. Bradley, Bissell, Luxton, Wilson, Preston and Brown.
Macabees—Wilmshurst, Speller, Graves, Hill, Fieldhouse, Richards, Stewart, J. Roberts, W. Graves and E. Roberts.

MARY WILSON STARS
Mary Wilson was the dominating force in the College girls' teaming in over half of the total thirty-four points. The game was fast from start to finish, both teams being deadly under the basket. Only because of the fine defensive game turned in by Seano, Peden, and guard of College, were the St. Margaret girls held in check.
The teams and individual scores follow:
Victoria High School—Doreen Beere (14), Evelyn Gaunt, Jean Wilson (9), Jane Trotter, Eleanor Trotter, Lois MacMurchie (22) and M. Purdy.
Normal School—E. Watson (3), B. Moffat, J. McDonald (6), C. Graham, M. Thompson (2) and E. Stevens.
Victoria College—Frances Graham, Mary Wilson (18), Eleanor Peden, Frances Hastings (4), Kay Ellis (19) and Beth Stewart.
St. Margaret's School—M. Patterson, A. Craig, K. Houghton (3), P. Towler, B. Sheppard (7), D. Haughton (4) and V. Graham.

Winnipeg Wheat Has Setback As Chicago Prices Turn Lower

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—Taking cognizance of a sharp downturn in Chicago prices, futures values on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange underwent substantial setbacks to-day and closed behind minus signs. Final quotations showed an overnight loss of 1 1/2 to 2 cents.

Pit volume was not heavy, but confidence appeared to have been shaken by developments in the southern market and support was almost entirely lacking. Values finished close to the low points.

November wheat ended at 63 1/2, December at 62 1/2, May 61 1/2 and July 60 1/2 cents.

Traders turned eyes to the south, where the Chicago market was acutely weak. This was reflected in the local pit by scattered selling, which offset the thin demand and pushed values down.

Does Head or Heart Choose Better Mate?

Dorothy Dix

Applies Different Rules To Men and Women

Which Should You Marry: The Gay Flirt Who Fires Your Fancy or the Compendium of Virtues Who Sets Your Teeth on Edge?—Dorothy Dix Advises Men to Marry Their Heart's Delight, Women to Marry Solid Citizen, and Tells Why

IT IS ONE of the ironies of life that the thing which comes up to our ideals so seldom fires our fancy.

We crave lobster and champagne for supper when we know we ought to be eating bread and milk. We long for chiffons and lace when we are conscious that we should spend our money for serviceable homespun. We enjoy novels who our sober judgment tells us that we should be improving our minds by studying history and philosophy. We would be willing to do without the necessities of life if only we might have the luxuries.

This vagary of the human mind extends to people and, generally speaking, no company is so attractive to us as that which is bad for our manners and our morals.

The most important phase of this subject is reached, however, when a man or woman is called upon to decide whether he or she will marry the one who sets his or her pulses thrilling, or the one who realises every specification of what a good wife or a good husband should be.

Unfortunately, those who are most filled with inward graces are so often lacking in outward attractions. The girl who is industrious and domestic and economical and pious and possessed of all the virtues that a woman to make her a real helpmate to a man generally possesses a knobby forehead, skimpy hair, no figure and a taste in dress that sets your teeth on edge.

On the other hand, the flirty and frivolous maiden, who hasn't one single qualification to recommend her for the job of wife, is a perfect compendium of charms that make her every man's heart's desire, even though he knows he will regret it if he gets her.

In the same way, the earnest young man, who neither drinks nor smokes nor plays the races, but who leads the Epworth League and is getting on in business, and bears the visible stamp of being O.K. on his noble brow, and to marry whom would be like putting your money in the savings bank, ninety-nine times out of a hundred wears his hair too long and his trousers too short, and snuffles when he talks, and steps on your toes every time he comes within twenty feet of you.

Whereas the man who is a hopeless detrimental, and whom it would be suicide to marry, is good to look upon, good to talk to, good fun to go out with, and knows every short cut and bypath to a woman's affections.

It is Nature's great law of compensation that parcels out the charms and virtues instead of bestowing them all upon some one individual, but it is pretty hard on the one who must choose between them.

Many a man has sighed as he asked himself why the homely rich girl, that it would be so advantageous for him to marry, had not the melting eyes and winning ways of the poor girl who had snared his fancy. Many a girl has wept salt and bitter tears into her pillow wondering why the rich widower who was courting her couldn't be young and slim and dance the Charleston as does some poor clerk that it would be a two-by-four-flat fate to marry.

But, considering that one must generally choose between the ornamental and the useful, which should one take in a life partner? I should say that a man should always choose his heart's fancy, and a woman her mind's ideal.

Women reverse this attitude toward matrimony, and a woman should pick out the man who satisfies her judgment rather than her heart, if she cannot find one who does both.

This is because women's affections are as adhesive as a barnacle, and will attach themselves to anything in their immediate vicinity. Even if a woman marries without being much in love, she will nearly always grow to love her husband if he is good to her.

Besides, other things than love enter into a woman's life. A good home, a comfortable income, a settled position in society are not to be despised, and more than these is the freedom from anxiety. The woman who never has to tear her hair about other women; who never has to get up in the night to open the door for a drunken husband, is happily married, no matter whether she's got any romantic illusions about her husband or not.

Then there is also to be considered—that our fancies are exceedingly fragile things and last a very short time at best. Close acquaintance with a charming scapegrace shows off the grain and leaves only the scrape into which a woman has got by marrying him. If you will look about you carefully, you will see that the women who are trying to reform husbands are not doing much palpitating over it. They are doing it in tears and disgust.

But the good man grows in grace as the years go by, and hence the woman who marries the man of whom her sound common sense approves never regrets it.

A Journey to Persia

FARMING

I have remarked that Persia is in large part desert and in large part mountainous; but there are sections where crops grow well. Even in the desert, the soil is such that crops can be grown if water is provided.

There are heart-breaking winters in which little or no rain comes; and in such cases the Persian farmer is lucky if he obtains as much grain as he sowed.

Persian farmers are not up-to-date. They use wooden plows, tipped with iron and drawn by donkeys or oxen. The same beasts are used to thresh grain by tramping on the stalks after the harvest.

As we visit a Persian farm, we watch this method of threshing, which has been employed for thousands of years. We also observe a peasant woman turning cream into butter. Instead of using the kind of a churn we know about, she shakes the cream by swinging it in a leather container.

Despite the scant rainfall, Persia produced more than a million tons of wheat in a recent year, and half a million tons of barley. A small part of the grain—about two per cent—was exported. The rest was used in the country, to make those flat sheets of bread we have mentioned, and for other purposes.
